Strike Called on Railroad Supplying Camp Wheeler

SNITE HAS COMPANY—Fred Snite Jr., iron lung patient in Miami for the winter, had a few visitors yesterday. Arriving simultaneously were Jack Dempsey and his daughter Barbara; a nurse bringing Snite's 5-month-old daughter, Teresa Maria, to see her daddy, and Lina Romay, a singer. Snite was glad to have them, judging from the broad smile in his mirror.

Line Is Only One Serving Giant Project

Walkout Scheduled Today; Wage Increases Sought by Trainmen.

MACON, Ga., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Engineers, firemen and trainmen of the Macon, Dublin & Savannah Railway, only railroad serving the $9,000,000 Army cantonment nearing completion at Camp Wheeler, have called a strike for 6 a. m. tomorrow.

J. W. Sexton, general manager of the railroad, said "in all probability all trains, freight and passenger, will be tied up by the strike." The road operates an average of eight trains daily between Macon and Vidalia.

E. E. Oster, Louisville, Ky., vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said employees voted to strike after collapse of negotiations for wage increases. He said negotiations were started in September, 1940, but failed despite efforts of the National Mediation Board.

National representatives of the Order of Railway Conductors, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen said 65 employees would be affected by the strike. Oster said the vote to quit work was unanimous. Sexton said pay of M. D. & S. trainmen is within 6 per cent of the standard rates paid by other railroads operating here. He said the railroad was considered a "short line" and is not bound to pay the same wage rates as larger lines.

The general manager added that all workmen who report for duty tomorrow will be assigned to work.

$100,000 in Jewelry Is Found on Couple

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 26.—(UP)—A. W. Bohlen, director of the South Carolina motor vehicle division, tonight said the state patrol was holding a man and wife taken into custody with $25,000 in cash and $100,000 worth of jewelry in their possession. The couple was driving an automobile with a Florida license. They said the money and jewelry were theirs and that they were en route to New York. Fingerprints of the couple are being checked by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington.

CIO Steel Workers Walk Out; Strike Threatens Ford Plants

By The Associated Press. CIO workers of Bethlehem Steel's huge Lackawanna plant, working on defense orders, struck last night as last-minute efforts to avert the walkout failed, while the Ford Motor Company, another key industry in the national defense effort, was confronted with strike threats.

Only a few hours before the steel plant walkout, Thomas Finn, a federal conciliator, said in Buffalo that "some progress" was being made toward a settlement. Fifteen minutes before the 9 p. m. (eastern standard time) strike deadline representatives of the steel workers' organizing committee, the Defense Commission and federal conciliators ended a three-hour conference with the announcement the controversy could not be settled then. Picket lines formed at seven gates of the Lackawanna plant

JURY STUDIES STRIKES—The Fulton county grand jury turned its attention to "the evils of strikes" yesterday, and received a proposal for the creation of a three or five-man arbitration board. The witnesses included Mayor LeCraw and Governor Talmadge. Miss Ellen Burke (at right), manager of the Atlantan Hotel Coffee Shop, trying to avoid the cameraman, appeared before the jurors to testify concerning a strike at the hotel. The jurors returned 16 perjury indictments in connection with the strike.

Six Dead, 'Number' Injured as Nazis Tighten Grip.

AMSTERDAM (Via Berlin), Feb. 26.—(AP)—Six civilians were killed and a number wounded today in clashes between the police and "disturbers of the peace," it was officially announced tonight. A brief German announcement stated that these deaths had occurred in police actions during which "the ringleaders of nightly attacks against the police patrol and a secret Jewish organization, were uncovered."

Strikes were ordered back to work by Thursday. All parades, demonstrations and assemblies on the streets were forbidden. Activity by political parties, including the wearing of uniforms and insignia of any kind, was banned.

Board for Labor Arbitration In City Proposed by LeCraw

Grand Jury Delves Into Strikes, Hears Talmadge, Returns Indictments Against 16 on Perjury Charges in Atlantan Hotel Dispute.

Creation of an arbitration board of three or five members to which labor and employers could refer their difficulties to avoid strikes and strike violence but whose decisions would not be binding, was proposed to the Fulton grand jury yesterday by Mayor LeCraw as he and Governor Talmadge and law enforcement chiefs conferred with jurors about strike problems in the city.

This developed as the grand jury delved into the strike at the Atlantan hotel and returned true bills of indictment against 16 men on charges of perjury. The men were accused of giving false testimony before the grand jury two weeks ago in connection with the shooting of J. W. Mullins by Carl J. Singler, hotel employee, on February 7.

Governor Talmadge, who said afterward the jury asked his advice and added "I don't figure I'm a very good one to give it," was reported to have told the jury he did not want to call out the militia to patrol strikes and that he intended to follow the law in regards to labor difficulties.

Sheriff J. C. (Mott) Aldredge, Chief M. A. Hornsby, and John Oliver, assistant chief of the county police, also were witnesses.

The jury sought information from all on how to "keep the evil of strikes from increasing" and it was indicated strong recommendations will be forthcoming Friday when the jury returns its final presentments. F. R. Mitchell, foreman, said the jury will decide today at a special meeting what action to take.

Named in the 16 indictments for perjury charges were Bob Bradley, E. H. Conner, R. H. Dawn, Paul H. Hall, J. H. Hendricks, Allen Higgs, R. Q. Hix, C. E. Hooks, L. J. Jones, Ralph Kelley, J. P. Melton, J. W. Mullins, W. F. Percival, Fred Reddish, W. A. Wells and Leroy Winkler.

Each was accused of testifying Mullins was on the sidewalk in front of the Atlantan hotel when Singler shot him in the arm, whereas, the indictments alleged, the true facts were Mullins went into the hotel lobby and threw an explosive of some kind on the floor and was shot by Singler while inside the hotel.

Mullins was already under indictment for misdemeanor in connection with throwing the explosive. Witnesses yesterday against the 16 men included Miss Ellen Burke, manager of the hotel coffee shop, and Detectives J. J. Chester and Hoyt Langley, and two grand jurors, W. Stanton Hale and J. O. King.

Entire Fascist African Colony 'Knocked Out'

3,000 Prisoners Taken in Victorious Dash by Empire's Army.

By the Associated Press.

The British yesterday announced the capture of Mogadiscio, capital of Italian Somaliland, and the seizure of the small Italian island of Castelrosso, 10 miles off the southwest coast of the Turkish mainland and easternmost of Italy's Dodecanese group in the Mediterranean.

With the fall of Mogadiscio the British unofficially claimed effective control of all its 270,000 square miles, picturing it as the first entire colony to be knocked out of the Fascist empire.

Mogadiscio, a city of 55,000, fell to British Imperial troops who had thrust forward 400 miles from British Kenya, and other columns were declared to have struck on 60 miles up the Juba river to entrap the main Italian forces between the captured towns of Gelib and Brava and cut their last road of retreat.

3,000 Captured. Italian prisoners already in hand were put by "conservative estimate" at 3,000. Seizure of vast quantities of guns and ammunition was announced.

British sources said the country north of Mogadiscio was of such little importance that the possession of the capital itself—along with the substantial defeat of all the active Fascist forces in the colony—meant possession of Somaliland.

Too, the British campaign had achieved another objective: to seal the Indian ocean side of Mussolini's empire.

From Mogadiscio, the British now are in position to strike inland toward Addis Ababa, to join other Imperial forces and Ethiopian insurgents who are seeking the Italian throat there, but such a move was regarded here as doubtful because the heavy rains begin in March.

Move Toward Cheren. In Eritrea, said the British Middle Eastern command, British Imperial troops striking at Cheren, which dominates the approaches to the colonial capital of Asmara, have made "satisfactory progress." In Ethiopia the native insurgents were declared to be pushing on in Gojjam province and to have forced the Italians to evacuate a series of posts.

The British field victory in Somaliland was supported by bombers and warships, which heavily bombed Italian coastal positions.

The seizure of the island of Castelrosso was the first capture of an island in the Dodecanese, although many of them—most notably strongly fortified Rhodes—have been raided repeatedly by the RAF.

A joint admiralty and war office communique said the occupation was carried out officially. Naval circles described the operation as a "very small and unimportant" one, undertaken chiefly to get possession of the island's seaplane base.

Although the operation thus was played down officially, naval quarters did not deny that Castelrosso, only 80 miles east of Rhodes, could be used as a British jumping-off place for attacks on other strategic Dodecanese guarding the entrance to the Aegean sea.

Realty Board Asked To Help Parking Tangle

Off Street Facilities in Future Sought by LeCraw.

Mayor LeCraw yesterday asked members of the Atlanta Real Estate Board to provide off-street parking facilities for patrons in future business developments in community centers.

In a letter to Judson Garner, president of the board, LeCraw pointed out that adoption of ordinances barring angle parking at 25 intersections throughout the city and outlawing double parking of trucks for loading and unloading during rush hours "already has vastly improved traffic conditions and speeded up the flow of vehicles."

He requested Garner to ask all members of the board to consider availability of off-street parking facilities as one of the major advantages to future business developments.

"I am agreeably surprised by the splendid spirit of co-operation the vast majority of citizens and merchants have shown in making effective the first two ordinances proposed by the newly-created traffic board," the mayor said.

"There still, however, are some who place their own convenience and their private interests above consideration of the public good. We are conferring with those who object to the abolition of angle parking and to limitation of double parking for loading and unloading purposes. If the public wants traffic congestion relieved, we can do it, and I know the citizens of Atlanta want action."

"The traffic board is serving without compensation and is giving much study to problems. It is composed of citizens of unquestioned integrity and ability, and deserves public support."

$15,210,000 More Is Needed To Finish State Defense Jobs

Immediate Expenditure of an Additional $3,434,000 Will Be Necessary To Fulfill Primary Military Needs in Georgia.

Estimated costs for national defense construction in Georgia are $15,210,327 below the actual requirements to complete projects already under way and the immediate expenditure of an additional $3,434,000 will be necessary to fulfill primary military needs in this state, it was announced yesterday.

This means that national defense is costing $18,644,327 more in Georgia alone than Army engineers originally thought. The deficit was revealed yesterday in Washington in a house of representatives Appropriation Committee bill which was reported favorably.

The appropriation bill disclosed similar deficits in estimates on defense projects in other states. In Alabama the deficit was $8,522,522.

Deficits Large. Army engineers told the House Appropriations Committee that the $15,210,327 deficit in Georgia was the aggregate they were short in estimating cost on nine defense projects throughout the state. Some of the deficits on the nine Georgia defense projects were staggeringly large.

The Atlanta general hospital, under construction for the Army here, will cost $966,225 more than originally thought, making the total estimate now $3,742,425.

The engineers find now it will cost $4,344,046 more to build Camp Wheeler than they estimated, or a total $9,648,046; the Camp Stewart estimate was $2,472,940 short of the $6,662,120 it will cost to complete the job.

Causes Cited. Estimates on the Savannah airport were $1,346,730 under. It will now cost $3,399,930. The Augusta arsenal was $28,926 short of the $68,286 it will cost. Fort McPherson estimates were $87,000 under the revised estimate of $362,305. Fort Benning costs will be $17,524,900 or $5,279,460 more than originally thought.

Fort Oglethorpe needs $275,000 more to pay its total estimated cost of $751,760. The Augusta air corps construction estimates were

Tempers Flare In Hot Debate On British Aid

Chandler Heatedly Denies F.D.R. Is Leading U. S. to War.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—In a tumult of snapping tempers, the senate today heard Senator Chandler, Democrat, Kentucky, accuse opponents of the lease-lend bill of endeavoring to undermine public confidence in President Roosevelt.

In turn, Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, angrily replied that Mr. Roosevelt was trying to "flim-flam" the public. He repeatedly described as "shocking" the President's statement of yesterday that the task of winning the war must take precedence over any talk of peace aims.

He called it indicative of an attitude that the United States was already in the war.

It was the first real debate, and the first sign of ebbing patience, continued on Page 9, Column 3.

FLYING PARSON—Governor Talmadge yesterday welcomed his old friend, Dr. J. Frank Norris (center), known widely as "The Flying Parson of Fort Worth and Detroit," to the state capitol, and the Baptist clergyman addressed a joint session of the general assembly. The Governor dropped official business for a few minutes to talk over old times with the colorful Texan while the Rev. W. N. Pruitt looks on.

Texas Pastor Says World Needs Revival

Colorful Dr. Norris Addresses Joint Session of Legislature.

Georgia's house of representatives was turned into a camp meeting ground yesterday as Dr. J. Frank Norris, well-known Baptist minister from Fort Worth, Texas, and Detroit, Mich., pleaded for an old-time revival.

The revival spirit spread quickly, for yesterday afternoon plans were going forward for 20 Georgia meetings to be conducted during July by Dr. Norris.

Dr. Norris was the central figure of a sensational Texas shooting 10 years ago and he successfully defended himself in court on a charge of killing a man who threatened him in his church study in Dallas, Texas.

The shooting occurred after the man walked into Norris' study, threatened him several times and then drew a pistol. The preacher, according to the evidence, quickly took another gun from his desk, wheeled on the assailant and shot him.

Norris' plea of self-defense was substantiated when he defended himself in the Texas court. A jury acquitted him within a few minutes.

The famous clergyman addressed a joint session of the senate and house and then was the guest of Governor and Mrs. Talmadge at the executive mansion, where he conferred with religious leaders on plans for the series of revivals.

The legislators, who are accustomed to much orating, but little singing, soon found themselves chanting "I'm Going Home" and "Amazing Grace." They even threw in an "Amen" or two.

Dr. Norris told the senators and representatives he was a student of the old hell-fire and damnation school.

Wholesale Preaching. "What Texas, Georgia and the world need is an old-time revival," he declared. "I know it is unpopular, but what we need is wholesale preaching on hell."

The minister said there was little need to pray solely for peace, but that the people needed to pray by confessing their sins and humbling themselves.

"We're not going into this war," he shouted. "We're already in it." Governor and Mrs. Talmadge escorted Dr. Norris to the legislative hall and remained throughout his sermon.

The Governor said that when he was in Fort Worth a few years ago members of Dr. Norris' congregation met him when he arrived, carried him to his hotel and then called upon him to speak at the regular Sunday morning hour.

After the sermon several legislators accompanied the clergyman to the executive mansion and later Dr. Norris attended a meeting of approximately 400 lay and clerical leaders at the East Side Independent Fundamental Baptist church.

Woman Names Pat Avery in Pardon Case

Freedom Under Rivers Stands To Cost Her $400, She Says.

Two pardons from Governor Rivers stand to cost her at least $400 in fees to Pat Avery, an attorney and former messenger of the Georgia house, Mrs. Annie L. Moore testified yesterday in Fulton superior court as she made a futile effort to win freedom on a habeas corpus petition before Judge John D. Humphries.

Mrs. Moore was convicted on two lottery charges and was sentenced to serve 12 months on each. She testified Avery told her he could get her pardoned for between $500 and $600, but that she had replied she could not raise more than $400. She was pardoned December 24 on condition she pay $200 in fines.

She was arrested this week on the grounds she had failed to pay the fines and therefore her pardons were void. Through her attorney, Russell Turner, she brought a habeas corpus petition alleging the pardons are still good and that she had attempted to pay the fines Monday but that the money was refused.

Judge Humphries denied the petition, remanding her to jail, after asserting that 10 days would have been a reasonable time in which to pay the fines.

Bond Almand, solicitor of Fulton criminal court, asked Mrs. Moore who obtained the pardons for her. She was evasive in her answers at first, but finally recalled it was Avery, who was a familiar figure around Rivers' office during his administration.

Mrs. Moore asserted she has not yet paid Avery anything for getting the two pardons and added she had had trouble raising the money for the fines.

She was denied bond but was

HEADS HOSPITAL—Brigadier William L. Sheep, appointed yesterday to command the new 2,000-bed Lawson General hospital now being constructed on the old Camp Gordon site.

General Sheep Appointed to Lawson Post

Veteran of 30 Years in Medical Corps of Army.

Brigadier General William D. Sheep, co-head of the Fort McPherson hospital, yesterday was named commander of the new Lawson general hospital, rapidly nearing completion at Camp Gordon.

A veteran of 30 years in the medical corps of the Army, the general is a native of Elizabeth City, N. C.

The hospital of which he now becomes head will, when completed, be the largest in the entire south. Its 100 buildings will house 2,000 beds and cover 140 acres of land. The staff will include 140 medical officers, more than 200 graduate nurses, and several hundred civilian employees.

Almost the first official act of the general was to assure the press that the hospital is not necessarily for American soldiers wounded in warfare.

For Sick Soldiers.

"Experience tells us that for every thousand soldiers in uniform, there will be so many sick ones," he explained.

"Two thousand beds looks like a lot, but there will be many thousands of men in training camps." The Lawson hospital won't handle minor cases, he explained, as those will be taken care of at the station hospital, at the various camps.

"But those cases demanding treatment by specialists, or those promising extended confinement, will be brought to Lawson hospital—either by train, ambulance, or airplane. They'll get the best treatment it's possible to find."

Ready April 15.

The general predicted the hospital would be completed by April 15, and fully equipped within another month or month and a half.

"We ought to be receiving patients by May 15 or June 1," he declared.

General Sheep attended the University of North Carolina, received his medical degree from George Washington University in 1906 and three years later was commissioned as a first lieutenant in the Army Medical Corps Reserve.

A year later he entered the regular medical corps and has been with the Army since.

Before the first World War he saw active duty on the Mexican border and in the Philippines, and in 1917 was attached to the base hospital at Camp Green, N. C.

In 1918 he was named commanding officer of General Hospital No. 1, in New York, and three years later was appointed assistant chief surgeon of the air service. He later served in the Panama Canal Zone and at Hot Springs, Ark., and from 1936 to 1940 was chief of the military personnel division of the office of the surgeon-general in Washington. He was transferred to Fort McPherson in June.

Hearing Is Called Off On Severance Tax Bill

By The Associated Press.

South Georgia and north Georgia lumber county representatives joined yesterday on a proposed severance tax and called off a public hearing announced for today.

The proposed tax, as amended by Author Osborn Foster, of Towns, in agreement with Charles Gowen, of Glynn, would be 25 cents per thousand feet on lumber cut in Georgia and manufactured outside the state, but will apply only to states which do not have reciprocal tax agreements with Georgia.

This exempts Florida and South Carolina, about which the south Georgians mainly were concerned. Representative Anderson, of Wayne, sought protection of Georgia's pine lands in a bill to prevent cutting trees less than nine inches in diameter at a point four feet above the ground. He also would require timber cutters to leave a minimum of two pine trees per acre for reproduction.

McNutt Warns Youths Against School 'Racket'

Says Many Are Victims of Schemes Promising Defense Jobs.

Georgians were warned by Paul V. McNutt, Federal Security Administrator, in Washington yesterday against unlicensed schools "guaranteeing" defense jobs, a scheme through which it is claimed hundreds of residents throughout the state are being victimized.

On top of McNutt's warning was disclosure by H. G. Mitchell, head of the Better Business Bureau of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, that his office has on file many complaints against these types of schools and that salesmen from other states have sold hundreds of these courses to Georgia boys who are unaware of the schemes being worked.

Work Small Towns. Mitchell disclosed that the salesmen operate principally in the smaller towns, going to garages and there engaging young mechanically-minded men in conversation, pointing out to them the advantages to be gained from taking a course.

The salesmen, Mitchell said, hold out the promise of work in airplane factories and other industries engaged in defense projects. In several instances, he added, the salesmen claim they "personally know" major executives in the companies and that the "fix is in" for graduates to obtain jobs.

Other sales talk revolves around high wages in the defense industries, the brevity of the courses, and, in some cases, the sales argument is pitched on avoidance of military training by being certified as necessary to national defense.

"Serious Situation." Mitchell said courses in airplane welding offered are usually from six to eight weeks, with fees ranging from $125 to $200. Courses of instruction which claim to turn out the students as a first-class all-round airplane mechanic usually take six to eight months, and fees range from $250 up.

The boys who take the courses usually seek employment in airplane plants, and are mainly interested in welding of airplane parts. However, Mitchell added, there are some schools in the class pointed out by McNutt as objectionable which offer courses in Diesel motors and airplane engines.

"This is a serious situation," said Mitchell. "So serious that better business bureaus all over the country have been warned against the racketeering type and nearly all have received complaints from victims."

Cases Cited. In this connection, Mitchell related the experience of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, which, with leaders in the aviation industry, attempted to do something about the situation.

One airplane manufacturer, Mitchell said, sent letters to better business bureaus all over the country, stressing three main facts: (1) That it had no representatives working to enroll students in aviation schools; (2) they were not interested in any aviation schools; and (3) they had no agreements or understandings with any school regarding employment of its graduates.

It also was disclosed here that there is no law in Georgia requiring licenses for any schools other than those receiving public funds.

Licenses Urged. Commenting on this, M. B. Mobley, state director of vocational training, who also said his office had received a number of complaints, said:

"There ought to be a state law making it mandatory for private trade or vocational schools to be approved or licensed by the state board of vocational training. This law should not be for the purpose of outlawing private schools, but to force them to maintain recognized training standards. This would protect persons seeking training as well as the legitimate schools."

McNutt's statement said that although congress "has voted money for this type of training and tens of thousands of young people are being trained without expense to them through public schools and the NYA, complaints in increasing numbers are reaching my office that unlicensed schools are springing up in many parts of the country to exploit the unemployed, particularly youth, by offering to train them for important jobs in defense industries."

"While there are some excellent private vocational institutions, the public should beware of unlicensed schools," Mr. McNutt said. "These unlicensed schools advertise widely, often guaranteeing jobs at high wages. They charge stiff fees, have inadequate equipment, no supervision, and are wholly money-making ventures."

'Booms' Girl Rests Her Feet On Visit Here

Beverly Crane Is Half of Twin Act in N. Y. 'Hellzapoppin.'

By CAROLYN MCKENZIE.

A little girl named Beverly Crane is in town for a visit. She's the one you've heard so much about, one of the Crane sisters who dances "Booms-a-Daisy," every evening in the New York version of "Hellzapoppin."

She's all of a little glamor girl with numerous golden curls sprinkled throughout her coiffure. Her age is something which she keeps a question mark beside. Actually she's 22 or 23. Shubert claims 18 and so that's her age. But she played in England three years ago when she was 17, now she's 18, and that probably wouldn't suit Mr. Einstein.

Just Resting. The "Booms" girl isn't boomsing in Atlanta—she's just resting her feet, her mind, and her body. She's one of the two little dancers who have captured such partners as Movie Actor Chester Morris, Al Smith and the quins doctor, Alan Daffoe who'd never danced before. But they have a way of bringing the spectators onto the stage whether they've practiced a great deal or not. That's the fun in "Booms-a-Daisy."

Small of stature, the Crane twins probably only touch the five-foot mark, and they have a shapely structure. We say "they" because Beverly confesses that one of their trick games is to swap dance partners and watch the boys dance along unaware that they have a different girl. When she showed us some pictures she sort of shyly confessed that she knew which one was she—no one else does.

Started Young. The Cranes just fell into a dancing career and they may become dancers for life, but they think not. They share every girl's real ambition, Beverly confesses—and that doesn't have to do with a work-a-day world forever. But they went to dancing school when very young to develop poise and grace. Their mother thought it a good idea so she put them in training in California. The teacher noticed marked ability in the twins so she encouraged them to develop into professional dancers.

When 17, they appeared in London hotels as favorites of the English nobility.

Beverly is visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Koller, of Decatur.

END DANDRUFF-ITCHY SCALP-FALLING HAIR

NINETY per cent of all cases of hair loss result from two causes—(1) lack of nourishment for the growing hair and (2) local scalp disorders.

Thomas treatment helps to eliminate both of these causes of baldness. It stimulates the dormant sources of nourishment (increases the blood supply in the scalp) and overcomes abnormal scalp conditions, such as dandruff.

If you have any of these aggravating symptoms of approaching baldness—dry or oily hair, itchy scalp, falling hair, or thin hair—consult a Thomas expert today. No charge will be made for the consultation or scalp examination. He'll show you how Thomas treatment is ending dandruff, stopping abnormal hair fall, and promoting natural hair growth for thousands of others, and how it can produce the same results for you.

Alfonso Near Death, Suffers Worst Attack

Heart Seizures Occur at Half-Hour Intervals.

ROME, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Former King Alfonso, of Spain, tonight was reported nearer death than at any time during his 15-day illness after suffering his worst heart attack thus far.

The seizure came at 5 p. m. at the Grand hotel, where the former monarch has been confined since the start of his illness.

The latest attack climaxed a series of minor cardiac disturbances which started at noon and continued at half-hour intervals.

His family was in attendance. Dr. Giovanni Colazza, one of Alfonso's physicians, told the United Press at 8:30 p. m.:

"The attacks this afternoon were the most critical he has suffered. His condition remains most grave. Respiratory trouble persists, aggravating the heart condition and causing general weakness."

Waco School Is Razed By Mysterious Blaze

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.

WACO, Ga., Feb. 26.—Waco's High school building was destroyed early today by fire of undetermined origin—the fourth school in adjoining Carroll and Paulding counties to be razed by night fires within 30 days.

All contents in the brick and steel structure were destroyed. The building and equipment, unofficially estimated to be worth $25,000, carried $7,500 insurance.

Japan Bidding Latin American Against U. S. in Latin Markets

Items Vitrally Needed in Rearmament Go to Asiatics.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Japan is bidding against—and in some instances outbidding—the United States for strategic and critical materials in the Latin-American market, some of which are vitally needed in the rearmament program, the United Press was informed tonight.

Reliable government quarters said the Japanese competition began about eight months ago and has been "pyramiding tremendously."

It is understood the United States has counteractive methods under consideration. One envisages government purchase of some of these materials from Central and South American republics.

Government quarters said that Japanese purchases of mercury—a highly important military item—have been particularly large. It is believed in some circles that quantities of the liquid metal and other materials purchased by Japan have been finding their way to Germany.

It also is reported that Italy has been purchasing Brazilian industrial diamonds and quartz crystals and is the most important producer of industrial diamonds, used in the machine-tool industry.

Personnel Board Law Is Attacked

An attack on the constitutionality of the law setting up the city personnel board was contained yesterday in an affidavit writ brought by Clarence J. Thompson, discharged city water meter inspector, in Fulton superior court.

Thompson's petition claims that the personnel board law is unconstitutional in that it provides no right of appeal from its ruling. Thompson was convicted last month of defrauding the city of water by fixing water meters and was sentenced to one year on three counts. A motion for a new trial is pending in superior court.

Charges Filed Against Earle, Nazis Report

Minister Accused of 'Inflicting Wounds' in Cafe Incident.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—(AP)—DNB, German news agency, reported today in a Sofia dispatch that assault charges had been made in the Bulgarian capital against United States Minister George H. Earle as a result of last Saturday's cafe bottle-throwing incident.

DNB said Earle was accused of "inflicting light bodily wounds." The agency added that "numerous Bulgarian citizens appeared as witnesses."

(Earle said the altercation arose when a man he identified as a German objected when the orchestra played "Tipperary" at Earle's request. The man was hit by a bottle and Earle suffered a cut on his arm in warding off a bottle.)

U. S. SAYS EARLE CAN'T BE ARRESTED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Officials said today that George H. Earle, United States minister, cannot legally be arrested or tried on the assault charges reported to have been filed against him in Sofia.

They asserted that Earle has diplomatic immunity. The State Department had received no report late today that charges had been filed against the envoy.

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 26.—(AP)—The 244th Coast Artillery Corps Regiment, the first New York National Guard outfit to be inducted into federal service and now stationed for its year of training at Camp Pendleton, has been brought up practically to full war strength by recent assignments of selective service personnel and now is putting its new men through a program of basic instruction before attempting heavier schedules.

The regiment, which carries battle streamers of the Wilderness, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Antietam and a number of other engagements of the War Between the States, today received notice that it had been awarded the Coast Artillery Association trophy for the greatest efficiency in target practice during the training year of 1939-40 among National Guard regiments.

Bulgaria Holds An Emergency Cabinet Session

Britain Advises Citizens To Leave as Sofia Awaits Attack.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 26.—(P)—The Bulgarian cabinet met in emergency session tonight after conference between the chief of the general staff, General Petkoff,

Prime Minister Philoff and Foreign Minister Popoff. The German minister also was understood to have conferred late in the afternoon with Popoff. Early in the evening the government issued another of its frequent denials that German troops had crossed the frontier into Bulgaria from Rumania. Watchers along the Danube reported: "All quiet."

British citizens who have no imperative reasons to remain were advised by their government to leave Bulgaria tonight as black-out restrictions and bristling anti-aircraft batteries grimly reminded Sofia citizens of danger to their nation.

Bulgarians watched proceedings in Turkey, where British Foreign Secretary Eden has arrived for conferences, almost as closely as they did the Danube.

Eichelberger Favors 'Active' Aid to Britain

Belligerency Advocated 'If Necessary' To Save England.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(P)—Clark M. Eichelberger, national director of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, said today he favored "active belligerency if necessary" to save England from "either a defeat or an appeasement peace."

He added, however, that he was expressing only his personal opinion, and that both he and his committee believed that the United States can keep out of the war and save England by sending material aid.

Eichelberger held a press conference to urge speedy passage of the lend-lease bill, and said he feared opponents of the measure were trying to delay action until it might be too late to save England.

Elaborating his advocacy of "active belligerency if necessary," Eichelberger said he was not envisioning the sending of troops to Europe, but was thinking of such things as naval and aerial participation.

Migration Committee Asks New Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(P)—The special committee which investigated interstate migration asked the house today to prolong its life by authorizing an inquiry into "the social and economic problems arising from migration induced by the defense program."

A resolution by Representative Sparkman, Democrat, Alabama, would continue the committee from April 3, 1941, to January, 1943, and change the name of the group to "the select committee investigating national defense migration."

destroyed," the Italian war bulletin said, "and prisoners were taken without German losses."

The battleground was described as an area 100 miles south of Bengasi and near the spot of the farthest British advance from Egypt toward Tripoli.

The Germans were said to have gone into action Monday morning.

State Defense Cost Exceeds U. S. Estimates

Causes for the underestimation were, they said, due to:

1. Unanticipated skyrocketing of labor and material costs;

2. Necessary changes in design of buildings and the needed addition of more housing facilities;

3. Extensive work required on utilities.

The Army revealed it planned building another $14,000,000 air depot in "the vicinity of Atlanta."

It was added that the Army was "being careful not to go into towns where factories are planned so that they will not disturb the labor situation." They refused further comments as to whether this meant Atlanta, with two government air fields already, would be passed up on the third.

The $3,434,000 additional appropriation for new work and new land purchases would include:

Purchase of 54,200 additional acres at Fort Benning for $1,000,000, the land to be used for expanding artillery impact areas, infantry combat ranges, parachute training operations and river crossing drill. (The purchases would be in four tracts, three in Georgia and one in Alabama.)

Equipment for the new general quartermaster corps general depot in Atlanta would be bought with $244,000 of this new fund.

A basic training school for Army pilots would be constructed in Macon with $945,000, which would be used for grading, paving, drainage, and night landing facilities.

For an advanced training station at Albany, the Army set up $1,105,000. It would be used for the same work as at Macon.

from Italy except by airplanes, are reported short in many essentials. Naval circles said the seizure did not necessarily mean the British were going to use it in future operations, but rather that they did not want Italy to have it. They emphasized that the Castelrossa seaplane base was a possible "menace" to Alexandria and British shipping in the eastern Mediterranean.

The Italians, however, are known to have other airplane bases in the Dodecanese, equally near Alexandria and British eastern Mediterranean shipping.

The island, formerly belonging to Turkey, was occupied by the French December 27, 1915, during the last great war and later awarded to Italy by the treaty of Sevres in 1920 and the second treaty of Lausanne in 1923. It is populated almost entirely by inhabitants of Greek origin.

Italian Order U. S. Newsman To Quit Rome

John T. Whitaker Told 'Tone of Dispatches' Cause of Action.

ROME, Feb. 26.—(P)—The departure of John T. Whitaker, correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, from Italy was requested today by the ministry of popular culture. He is the second American newspaperman to leave Italy by government action.

Whitaker declared he was advised through the United States embassy that the ministry wanted him to leave "because of the number and importance of his contacts and the unfriendly attitude of his newspaper" as well as Italian displeasure over the tone of his dispatches.

It was understood that as a courtesy to Whitaker the Italians made their request known through the embassy instead of serving a formal expulsion order.

It was suggested that he leave in 10 days, but Whitaker said no time limit was fixed at the ministry, where he went upon hearing of the request. He said he was told that he "must leave—the decision is irrevocable," and that he was asked to inform the ministry of the day of his departure so it could notify frontier authorities.

The first correspondent asked to leave Italy since she entered the war was Herbert L. Matthews, of the New York Times, who was expelled October 7 and permitted to return six weeks later.

Italians Order Germans Claim Successes for Sea Offensive

Hordes of Italian and Nazi Bombers Deal Blows to Malta.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—(UP)—A devastating blow at Britain's Malta base in the Mediterranean by hordes of German and Italian planes and the sinking of one British destroyer and the crippling of another in Hitler's stepped-up offensive at sea was claimed tonight.

Nazi quarters reported that 36,000 more tons of British merchant shipping had been added to the staggering total claimed in recent days.

A German long-range bomber operating deep into the Atlantic west of Ireland was said to have sunk an 8,000-ton merchant ship en route to England and damaged a 6,000-ton freighter badly.

The bomber radioed to Berlin the report of its attack, the official DNB agency said, after reports that three British ships aggregating 21,000 tons had been bombed, set on fire and "observed sinking" northwest of Ireland.

Exultant spokesmen predicted the Nazi offensive soon would weld a blockade around Britain through which no American war material can trickle.

Dive bombers, surface craft and submarines plagued British shipping from the Mediterranean to the Atlantic northwest of Ireland. The reported toll was six merchantmen, a "control boat," an outpost ship and the two destroyers, composite reports showed.

DNB, in its account of the raid on Malta, said German bombers and dive bombers spread havoc over the island. They were accompanied by German and Italian fighter planes and concentrated on the Luca airdrome.

Ten British planes were set afire on the ground, four British Hurricane fighters were shot down by the Germans and the Italians downed two more in air battles, DNB said.

(Reports from Maletta, in Malta, claimed that at least seven and perhaps 13 raiders were shot down today in air battles and by antiaircraft fire when Germany's air force subjected the British base to one of its most savage dive bombing attacks since the arrival of Nazi Stuka bombers in Sicily.)

Norris Favors Lease-Lend Bill To Stop Hitler

'Necessary To Keep Us Out of War,' Senator Declares.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(P)—Senator Norris, Independent, Nebraska, one of the little group of senators who voted against the 1917 declaration of war on Germany, supported the lease-lend bill tonight as "necessary to keep us out of war."

"If we pass this bill," he said, "the probabilities are that England will win; that Hitler will fall; and that the great machine built up by him to destroy the peace of a civilized world will fall apart and disappear."

This country, he said, has "done many things in our aid to England that it must be admitted a belligerent nation might use as an excuse for a declaration of war against us." That statement would still be true whether the bill were passed or not, he said, adding:

"If he (Hitler) is wise, if he wants to win this war, he will avoid to the utmost any act that would bring us into the war. He does not want a combat with us now; and the last thing he will do will be to take any action against us that would bring us in."

'Russia Wants Peace,' Says Walter Duranty

Needs of People Come First in U. S. S. R., Writer Says.

By WALTER DURANTY.

For North American Newspaper Alliance. MOSCOW, Feb. 26.—Maybe you think the Russians are terrible. I mean, they attacked property and banks and vested interests and churches, and, people even said, they nationalized women and were terrible.

So the Russians got a bad name. Of course, they were trying to do things and succeeded in doing things, or failing sometimes, but always kept trying. And still they had a rather bad name with other nations which served property and religion.

Then the Russians made a deal with the Germans and all of us except 80,000,000 Germans and 180,000,000 Russians said that was awful and just showed. But now some of Russia's severest critics among the foreigners here in Moscow are saying they think the Soviet foreign policy has been sound and wise. They didn't let Chamberlain fool them and weren't left holding the Polish baby.

But there are still people who say the Russians started the war, or contributed to its being started, so that Britain and Germany would fight each other to pieces and Russia would pick up the pieces for its own ends. Now, later, there are people who say that the U. S. S. R. wants to plunge Japan into war with the United States and again pick up what is left.

"Clear, Cynical Theory." That is a clear and cynical theory of weltpolitik (international politics) and I dare say that Demarest Bess, who is not only a friend of mine and a good writer, but knows lots about the U. S. S. R. and Europe, too, could put forward a strong plea along those lines and almost make you believe it. But I don't think it's true. I don't think Russia cares about the pieces—not at the start of the war. Don't forget, the U. S. S. R. is bigger than the United States, Canada and Mexico put together, with a larger population and no less of natural resources.

Voltaire once said, "Cultivate your garden." And so I believe two things: First, that the Russians have a fine, big garden to cultivate, and second, which is more important, they want to and intend to and will cultivate it—meaning no monkey business about starting wars for other people or keeping wars going or anything of the kind.

You can take the situation with Japan either way. You can say, "Oh, all right, the U. S. S. R. wants to play with Japan to give the Japanese enough confidence to fight against the U. S. A." You can say it, but you're wrong. This country doesn't want war and doesn't like it and wishes it would cease.

Social Experiment. It has the best of reasons, the fact that it is trying the greatest social experiment the world ever saw in a country that hasn't had much training—although it did have some of the most outstanding writers, doctors, musicians and, of course, admittedly the world's best ballet and theater—I say, Russia had that, but still its masses were backward.

It's not easy for the United States itself—for Ford or General Motors to raise airplane production from 1,000 monthly to 10,000. It's not easy to do it quickly. And how much harder it is in the U. S. S. R. You see, what the Bolsheviks are trying to do—what they've had to do—is make Poca-hontas into an Alfred Sloan, a wigwam into Detroit, with all which that implies. And now let's come back to Japan and also, perhaps, to the Belgians who come here begging for food and maybe some cotton whereof you have an almost ruinous surplus in America while Europe needs it so much. But there, in the face of the need, comes the British blockade because Britain is fighting for its life and also has a ruthless leader. Winston Churchill is half American, please remember if you want to criticize him.

Representative Foster Is Not a Married Man

Representative Osborn Foster, of Towns, wants it clearly understood that he is not a married man. In a biographical sketch of the legislator, The Constitution inadvertently referred to him as being married.

Although the Towns county representative would not strongly object to wedded bliss, he fears that such an impression might interfere with his social standing among the fairer sex.

Needs Tin, Rubber. So now finally I reach the point of my story. The U. S. S. R. needs tin and rubber from the Dutch East Indies—not from Germany, but for the U. S. S. R. And the U. S. S. R. will find it easier to import food by ships to Siberia than send it by rail.

The U. S. S. R. isn't crazy about the way the Japanese have been acting in China, but doesn't want war and will play with the Japanese if the Japanese will play ball.

There, I've said almost all I want to say, but there is still something else. It can't be in Britain's interest to provoke trouble between Japan and the U. S. A., so if the British are smart, as I suppose, they will let Russia play with Japan to the mutual and reciprocal interest of both countries.

Because it doesn't amuse the U. S. S. R. to spend one-third or more of its effort and manpower and what have you in preparation for war. What the U. S. S. R. wants, speaking generally, is peace and, speaking specifically, machines with which to make things. If Japan can give them—fine. If the Belgians can give them—all

RAF Smashes Calais Docks in Intensive Raids

North France Hard Hit; Bombers Encounter No Interference.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—(P)—The British aerial offensive gathered fury today, squadrons of planes sweeping back and forth across the English channel hour upon hour, and bombs were declared to have exploded on the docks at Calais, and across the face of northern France.

At Calais, the air ministry said, the quayside, jetties and tidal basin were squarely hit. The brief official report did not wholly account for the use of a vast number of British planes which kept the air so stirred one coastal observer remarked:

"I haven't seen so many RAF planes over the Strait of Dover since the Battle of France last summer."

The air ministry asserted that British fighter pilots had "again proven their mastery of the air over the English channel," observing that while it was a day of "intense activity" the Nazis were so hard to find that only three British airmen had fired against German fighters—and these all at extreme range.

British bombers were escorted by Spitfires and Hurricanes to Calais "without interference" by the Germans, it was added. It was a continuation of night bombing activities against the Nazis—an almost continuous action—during which airdromes in France and war industry plants in the German Ruhr were assaulted in force.

Hit during the night, too, said the air ministry, were the invasion ports of Boulogne, Dunkerque and Calais and, in a single daylight action of yesterday, a German submarine assembly and repair station at Flushing, the Netherlands, was bombed. The loss of one British plane was acknowledged.

right. Or, best of all, from you, America. But, can you? Or does it amuse you to be spending money for war which, without exception, is the silliest of all things devised by men.

Cold Is General Throughout U. S.

By The Associated Press. The cold weather increased its sting in the upper Ohio valley and along the south Atlantic coast yesterday as more severe conditions moderated slightly in the northern Rockies and north central states. These changes leveled the temperatures to comparatively uniform cold through the northern half of the nation. Snow, only a trace in some sections and up to three inches in a limited area, fell over a big part of the central part of the country.

The mercury climbed slightly along the gulf from Texas to Alabama. Freezing extended southward to northern North Carolina, northeastern Tennessee and northern Arkansas.

The coldest spots were Havre, Mont., with 13 below zero; Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., 6 below, and Bismarck, N. D., 5 below.

Rear Admiral Feted by Club As 'Fall Guy'

Clark Howell Woodward Retiring as Chief of Third District.

Rear Admiral Clark Howell Woodward, native Atlantan who is retiring as commandant of the Third Naval District, yesterday was inducted as a "fall guy" by the Dexter Fellows Tent, Circus Saints and Sinners Club of America, at a luncheon held at the Hotel Astor in New York City.

Dignitaries of the Army and Navy were present as the admiral was honored.

Brigadier General Irving J. Phillipson, commandant of the Second Corps Area, was there representing Lieutenant General Hugh A. Drum, commanding general of the First Army, and former Governor Harold G. Hoffman, of New Jersey, president.

Captain John T. G. Stapler, chief of staff of the Third Naval District; Captain Arthur C. Stott, U. S. N., retired; Captain P. P. Blackburn, U. S. N., retired; Captain F. R. Lackey, U. S. N. R., and Lieutenant Commander John T. Tullih, U. S. N. R., were there representing the Navy. Officers and officials of the Brooklyn Navy Yard and a delegation representing the Naval Air Corps were present also.

CIO To Call For Walkouts In Ford Plants

unless company officials meet SWOC demands.

Baker made his statement after a conference with union representatives. He said the employees were indefinitely suspended because they had "engaged in sit-down tactics, refused to work damaged company property and had been guilty of other misconduct during working hours."

Other Strikes Loom.

Two representatives of the Defense Commission also met during the day with spokesmen for the company and union. The government's interest in a settlement was intensified by the assertion of a CIO official that unless its demands were met the union would close all Bethlehem plants, iron ore docks, and coal mines.

Officials of the CIO United Auto Workers Union said in Detroit that the union had filed with the Michigan Labor Mediation Board a notice of intent to strike at the Rouge, Highland Park and Lincoln factories of the Ford Motor Company. The union accused the company of attempting to discourage workers from joining it.

Under Michigan law a 30-day "cooling period" is required before strikes can become effective.

"FALL GUY"—Those show people must have their fun, even at the expense of such dignitaries as Rear Admiral Clark Howell Woodward, shown here bringing in his fictitious vessel at an induction party of the Circus Saints and Sinners Club of America. It all happened yesterday in New York. When the circus fraternity heard the admiral was retiring as commandant of the third naval district to take it easy in his old home town of Atlanta, they promptly elected him a "fall guy." At the right is former Governor Harold G. Hoffman, of New Jersey.

In a telegram to President Roosevelt, however, high union officials declared that their organization was "wholeheartedly in support of our national defense program" and that "if there can be avenues opened for adjustment of our grievances without a strike, we are ready to use those avenues."

The Ford Company has orders for 4,000 Pratt & Whitney aircraft engines and several thousand "midget" or "pigmy" trucks for the United States Army. It also is to produce parts and sub-assemblies for bombing planes for the Douglas and Consolidated companies.

The message to the President described the union's decision to file a strike notice as the "result of a continued accumulation of grievances which constitute an intolerable situation." The action was approved, it continued, in meetings in which an "overwhelming majority" of the employees in the three plants was represented.

"Workers Satisfied." On the other hand, I. A. Capizzi, counsel for the Ford company, said "all of the men are satisfied, always have been satisfied, and would continue so to be if they were left alone."

He declared "none of the charges made by the union is true," and asserted that union leaders, in their drive for members in the Ford plants, had been "sitting up nights trying to think up schemes to get headlines."

In Washington there was talk of establishing an 11-man labor board as a "supreme court" for defense strikes and labor disputes which cannot be settled through normal mediation processes. Informants said that an executive order creating such a board was in the final drafting stage.

Return to Jobs. While the walkout threats hung over Ford and Bethlehem, AFL United Auto Workers returned to their jobs at the Motor Wheel Corporation in Lansing, Mich., after a two-week strike. The company holds $4,000,000 of defense orders.

Elsewhere: Youngstown, Ohio—A crane operators' strike was settled at the electric-weld plant of Republic Steel Company. The company makes pipe for defense purposes. Gary, Ind.—CIO Steel Union pickets refused to permit non-union workers to enter the Carnegie Sheet and Tin Mills, which normally employs 9,000.

Life Insurance Funds Called 'In Jeopardy'

SEC Members Charge 'Breach of Trust' to Some Directors.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The monopoly committee made public today a report by two members of the Securities Commission staff which asserted that funds of many life insurance policyholders "will remain in jeopardy" until "flagrant cases of conflict (of interest) and breach of trust" by some insurance directors are eliminated.

The report was written by Gerhard A. Gesell and Ernest J. Howe, members of the SEC staff who were in charge of a study of life insurance companies undertaken for presentation to the monopoly committee.

While making critical comment with respect to many features of the life insurance industry, the report to the committee said:

"The staff of the commission does not consider the practices disclosed (by monopoly committee hearings) as being so fundamental or so little subject to change that they undermine the soundness of the basic principles upon which the principle of life insurance is founded."

In discussing "conflicts of interest," the report said: "Whenever a director's personal affairs are confused with those of his company or whenever he is called upon to satisfy conflicting obligations, he can no longer act with complete independence. An insurance company, for example, owns securities of a corporation which are in default and the president of that corporation is on the board of the insurance company."

"It is obvious that the president of the corporation whose defaulted securities are involved cannot participate dispassionately in the deliberations of his fellow directors and give necessary impartial advice."

Meantime, E. E. Rhodes, vice president of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company of Newark, N. J., issued a statement saying that today's report "altogether ignores" a statement presenting the insurance companies' side of the case, which was submitted to the monopoly committee last year by 178 company presidents.

The only thing in today's report not covered by the companies' statement, Rhodes said, was a recommendation that insurance company funds be made available to stimulate new industries. Rhodes declared that many states prohibit investment in common stocks by insurance companies and that in 1906 the Armstrong committee, headed by Charles Evans Hughes (now chief justice) had stated that such investments should be prohibited.

"Policyholders will have little patience with the proposal that funds set aside for their widows and orphans, or for their own security in old age, shall be available for the stimulation of new enterprises which have not proved their worth," Rhodes said.

British Believe Turks To Keep Pact Promises

Official Tells Commons England 'Satisfied' as Crisis Nears.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—(P)—The British government was represented today as confident that "Turkey will stand firm in her alliance with Britain in the face of an apparently impending German thrust through Bulgaria."

R. A. Butler, foreign undersecretary, told the house of commons the government was "completely satisfied" with the way in which Turkey is fulfilling the alliance, and that "all information suggests that the German preparations for an occupation of Bulgaria are now far advanced."

He declined to answer, however, when asked whether Bulgaria had been warned she must forcefully oppose a German occupation or be regarded by Britain as a "hostile country" and subject to British bombings.

It was said authoritatively that one of the missions of Foreign Secretary Eden in Turkey is to seek an exact interpretation of the declaration of the Turkish foreign minister, Sukru Saracoglu, last Sunday that his country cannot remain "indifferent" to foreign activities in her "zone of security."

Butler called attention to that statement and repeated previous British assertions that the Turks had kept London fully informed of negotiations that led to the Turkish-Bulgarian nonaggression declaration of February 17.

On another phase of foreign relations Butler announced a provisional agreement with Spain by which Generalissimo Francisco Franco promised not to fortify the Tangier international zone in Africa, near Gibraltar.

The Spaniards took full charge control of the zone November 4, and now Britain has recognized Spain's "special interest" there, Butler said.

NAZIS SHOW CONQUEST FILM TO TURK OFFICIALS

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—(P)—The German radio, heard here today by CBS, said Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, had given a private showing of the Nazi film, "The Victory in the West," for Turkish Prime Minister Saydam, Foreign Minister Saracoglu and other Turkish officials last night.

The film, which shows German operations in the lowlands and France, was exhibited in Ankara at a dinner. The radio said the Turks were "profoundly impressed by this incomparable feat of military photography."

(The same film was shown last week in Sofia, Bulgaria, to Premier Philoff and members of his cabinet. A film, similar in theme—the fall of Poland—was shown to Norwegian officials almost on the eve of the Nazi invasion of that country.)

Four Norwegian Freighters Sunk

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—(P)—The New York Maritime Register said today that four Norwegian freighters, including the 4,332-ton Eli, which formerly traded with Baltimore and Philadelphia, had been sunk recently in the Atlantic.

One crewman was lost on the Eli, the register said. The other ships lost were the Bruse, 2,205 tons; Hild, 1,356 tons, and Odda, 835 tons.

BRITISH TAKE DODECANESE ISLE—The island of Castellorosso, Italian seaplane base in the Eastern Mediterranean, has been seized by British forces. ## Temper Flare In Hot Debate On British Aid of the nine days the senate has devoted to the bill. A session which began in quiet fashion with Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, continuing a speech begun last week, was suddenly transformed into a scene of excitement.

First of all, Wheeler interrupted Nye to say that Mr. Roosevelt's words indicated a position which this country should not take unless it is ready to enter the war.

"I submit we are not in the war unless the President of the United States has already committed us to war," he shouted. "If we are in the war, I repeat that we are in violation of the Constitution of the United States."

F. D. R. Accused.

"How can Britain win, unless we come into the war?" Nye asked, and to this, Senator Clark, Democrat, Missouri, added the observation that the President had "practically said, 'Yes, we are in the war.'"

Thoroughly aroused, young Senator Chandler plunged into the discussion. "I don't think any senator is serving his country by making the people lack confidence in their President," he said, facing Wheeler from a few feet away. "We may get into war, although I hope we don't. . . . If we do, all this talk is going to do us no good."

It was wrong, the Kentuckian added, for anyone to charge that the President was "trying to get this country into war." Wheeler pounded a desk with a heavy fist and replied:

"I'm not saying that the President wants to get us into war. I'm taking the President's own words." An outburst of applause from the galleries brought a warning from the chair when Wheeler said that the President wanted to "stop these trends" all he had to do was support an amendment to the bill "to keep American boys from dying on foreign soil."

But Chandler had not finished. "You fellows who call yourselves isolationists are going to win some day," he said, his voice rising. "You are going to be completely isolated. They will come over from all directions, and they will bomb your cities and your houses."

Referring obviously to Wheeler's plea for a negotiated peace, he asserted that it was impossible to negotiate with Hitler. One by one the countries who negotiated with him have been swallowed up, he said, adding:

"And you fellows want to negotiate with Hitler. I'm not going to do it. If you do it you're fools." Again there was burst of applause from the spectators.

George Speaks. Late in the day, Chairman George, Democrat, Georgia, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, accused opponents of the lease-lend bill of fostering war propaganda.

"There is extreme danger in building up a war sentiment by constantly referring to this as a war bill," he protested. "I don't want to go into any war and I support this bill as the one effective means of avoiding going to war."

In a lengthy exchange with Senators Taft, Republican, Ohio, and others, George contended that congress "keeps its hands on the purse strings" in any aid granted to a foreign nation.

Taft argued that the President could give away $10,000,000,000 worth of defense material: already

2-Year Trade Pact Signed by Reds, Rumania

Treaty Is First Sign of New Friendship Between Nations.

MOSCOW, Feb. 26.—(P)—Soviet Russia and Rumania signed today a two-year commerce and navigation treaty—the first definite sign of reconciliation between the two nations since Rumania ceded Bessarabia and northern Bucovina to the U. S. S. R. last June.

Establishment of the new frontier is understood to be virtually complete and resumption of direct railroad service between Moscow and Bucharest is expected soon.

The treaty provides for mutual application of the most-favored-nation clause, and that in the first year each shall supply $4,000,000 worth of goods to the other.

Russia signed a trade pact with Switzerland Monday.

Colonel Bhamaramontri, from the Thai ministry of education, meanwhile left for Berlin after conversations in Moscow designed to open diplomatic and commercial relations with Russia.

HUNGARY AND YUGOSLAVIA SIGN FRIENDSHIP PACT

BUDAPEST, Feb. 26.—(P)—Foreign Minister Cincar-Markovic, of Yugoslavia, arrived today to sign a Yugoslav-Hungarian friendship pact.

For the first time since they were created in their present form, the two countries will be linked in a pledge of friendship. Yugoslavia will obtain indirect contact with the Axis through Hungary, a signatory to the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo agreement.

The pact will be signed formally tomorrow.

ITALY AND GERMANY SIGN TRADE AGREEMENT

ROME, Feb. 26.—(P)—Italy and Germany signed today a trade agreement suspending the system of commercial exchange for the duration of the war so far as military supplies are concerned.

The agreement provides that during hostilities "all commerce of a military character between the two countries shall be conducted without consideration for trade balances or the condition of compensated accounts."

Arrangements were made for Italy and Germany to furnish one another "a large part of the raw materials needed for the war economy and other products essential for the prosecution of the war."

Greek Gunners Down Two Italian Planes

ATHENS (Thursday) Feb. 27.—(UP)—Greek antiaircraft gunners shot down two Italian planes in action over Albania and damaged two more, the high command reported today.

The war communique said Greek and Italian forces engaged in "lively" activity at various points along the front.

The ministry of public security said all was quiet in interior Greece.

Welsh Town, London Hit by Nazi Bombers

Long and Destructive Attack Staged by Reich Raiders.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(Thursday) (P)—German bombers concentrated on a south Wales coastal town in a long, destructive attack last night, and then turned on London early today to inflict new damage and casualties.

A stick of high-explosive bombs demolished 10 houses in one London district. Seven serious casualties were removed from the wreckage, while others remained trapped. At least five persons were trapped similarly in the home counties around London.

In both London and the Welsh town (name withheld) the raiders scattered incendiary bombs and flares, by the light of which they hurled explosives.

A single unidentified district in the Welsh town was the primary object of attack.

There was an unestimated number of deaths.

London had two raid alarms before midnight, but there were no reports of any heavy damage from explosive bombs. The raiders dropped incendiaries and flares on the capital.

Fire bombs fell also on the home counties surrounding London, in East Anglia and in southern and western England, but little damage was reported.

A town on the Thames estuary also was attacked strongly. An intense barrage greeted the bombers which came through an almost cloudless sky and over a calm Dover strait.

Scores of incendiaries and flares also were dumped in one section of London where an absence of searchlights indicated night fighting planes were attending to the defense.

Billion and Half Fund Measure Reaches House

Financing of Guam Navy Base Is Provided in Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(P)—The house took up a $1,533,439,702 emergency appropriation bill for the Army and Navy today and almost immediately heard a Republican charge that "unreasonable costs and unreasonable delays" had occurred in the defense program.

The lion's share of the money, $838,321,702 in cash and contract authorizations, would go to the Navy for development of its far-flung bases—including establishment of naval aviation lookouts posts at Guam and Samoa—to start construction of 400 submarine chasers and other small craft and to speed up the delivery of 55 destroyers.

A direct appropriation of $695,118,000 was included for the Army, chiefly for cantonment construction and other housing.

To prevent a repetition of the delays and increased costs experienced in the Army construction program in the event that the land forces are expanded further, the House Appropriations Committee recommended a $15,000,000 special fund to enable the War Department to make advance engineering studies. That sum was estimated as sufficient to plan for a 100 per cent expansion of the present program.

Soon after the bill reached the house floor, Representative Taber declared that defense workers had been "dominated" by labor unions and added that if this continued it would bring Socialism and dictatorship. Secretary Perkins, he said, had been instrumental in raising the cost of Camp Edwards, Mass., from $7,000,000 to $29,000,000 by ordering payment of a "prevailing" wage rate which he said represented a gross increase of 71 per cent "above prevailing union wages in the territory."

J.P. ALLEN & CO.
Atlanta

No less than eleven thousand working folks come to town by street car, trackless trolley and bus during the single crowded, hectic half-hour between 8 and 8:30 in the morning.

If Atlanta didn't have street cars and buses, 6,287* automobiles would be needed to carry all these people---in addition to all the autos already on the streets. It would be absurd even to think of pouring six thousand more cars into the stream of downtown rush hour traffic.

On the other hand, if more people used trolleys and buses instead of their automobiles, traffic conditions would be a lot better. Because street cars are as thrifty in the use of street space as in cost to riders.

'Hellzapoppin' Senate Plans Opens Here at Short Recess 8:15 Tonight For State Tour

Mad-Revue Stars Billy House and Eddie Garr.

Olsen and Johnson's mad-revue, "Hellzapoppin," featuring Billy House and Eddie Garr in the leading roles, will break loose at the Erlanger theater at 8:15 o'clock tonight. The engagement is for three days, with a matinee Saturday.

Billy House and Eddie Garr are supported by such well-known names as Grace and Nikko, comedy dancers; the Readinger Twins, delightful novelty dancers; Muttah Sisters, harmony singers; the Oxford Boys, radio stars; Ben Dova, acrobatic drunk comedian, and 100 others, including a youthful dancing ensemble.

Members of Committees To Inspect State Institutions.

The state senate will hurry through a few general bills this morning and then adjourn until Monday morning, when members of several committees can leave for an inspection tour of state-supported institutions.

Senate and house committees that will travel over the state in a special bus are penitentiaries, game and fish, conservation, drainage, Academy for the Blind, prison farms, training schools and the state sanitarium.

The first bill up for consideration this morning provides that any candidate defeated in a primary election who won 33 1-3 per cent of the total votes or any candidate who can honestly contend that a recount would substantially alter the outcome can request a retabulation by the election board.

Under the measure, drawn by Senators John C. Houston, of Lawrenceville, and J. H. Milholin, of Brixton, the recount must be made within 48 hours if the candidate lives in the county or within 96 hours if he lives out of the county.

This bill was suggested by Governor Talmadge during his campaign and is expected to pass. It sets up other technical regulations to govern recounts and contested elections.

Also ready for debate is Senator H. B. Edwards' bill to abolish the Entomology Department and transfer its duties to the Department of Agriculture under a "state entomologist" appointed by the governor.

House Votes To Assemble Every Year

Measure To Be Returned to Senate for Approval of Changes.

By LUKE GREENE.

Governor Talmadge and the voters of Georgia last night held the answer to whether the general assembly henceforth will meet annually or biennially after the house voted 174 to 9 for a constitutional amendment to inaugurate annual sessions.

If the Governor signs the measure, which must go back to the senate for concurrence in a few changes, it then will be submitted to the people for adoption in the special election in June.

Administration leaders put their support behind the measure, indicating strongly that the Governor will give it his approval.

50-Day Session.

The amendment provides for a 50-day session every year beginning the second Monday in January. If it is adopted the present legislature will meet again next January.

Leaders of the movement for yearly meetings contended it would not cost the state much more than the present biennial sessions, and would be a check on the Governor and constitutional officers whose terms are extended to four years under another constitutional amendment to go before the people in June.

Opponents, however, pointed out that it was not altogether certain that the constitutional amendment for four-year terms would be adopted, and that the proposal for annual sessions should be postponed until the next meeting of the legislature.

Harris Supports.

Roy Harris, of Richmond, anti-Talmadge chief in the house, joined with the administration, stalwarts in urging passage of the measure.

He recommended that Georgia go back to "some old-time government." The legislature has not met in annual sessions since 1924. Harris pointed out that no matter how bad counties and municipalities might need local legislation they frequently had to wait almost two years to get it.

The Richmond county legislator emphasized that next year's legislature could take up where the present one leaves off, eliminating the necessity of having bills reintroduced and referred to committees if they already are in the hopper.

More Economical.

Representative J. W. Culpepper, of Fayette, strong Talmadge leader, declared that "biennial sessions in Georgia always have proved more expensive to the taxpayers than annual sessions."

"We ought to meet at least once a year as stockholders to see that our directors are abiding by the law," he continued. "It will keep the fear of God in the hearts of our officials if they know we're going to come up here every year to check on them. We could have stopped some of this devilment if we had been meeting annually during the past few years."

He cited figures to show that during the past 16 years the legislature actually had been in session longer, counting extra sessions, than it would under the 50-day annual session plan.

Referring to the great amount of work forced on the assembly under the present system, Culpepper said "we are in a jam as bad as I have ever seen, if not the worst."

Urges Postponement.

Representative Robert Elliott, of Muscogee, was one of those voting "no."

"We have not yet provided for four-year terms for state officials," he said, in explaining his vote. "We do not know whether the people are going to approve or disapprove it. I do not think the people will adopt this amendment for this matter."

Two members of the Fulton delegation, Mrs. Helen Douglas Manikin and Cicero Kendrick, voted against the measure.

Over the protests of Representatives Edward Wohlwend, of Muscogee, and L. A. Whipple, of Bleckley, the house voted, 113-63, for a resolution asking that a special tag bearing "state representative" be made available to members of the house for their cars.

Wohlwend said he did not see any reason why the legislators should be given the right to violate ordinances and evade arrests any more than anybody else, simply because officers might see the special tag. He said he saw no good accomplished by "Governor's tags."

"I don't see any good that can come of it," he said. "We are going too far with a whole lot of our stuff."

He also cited the added expense to the state.

Speaking against the resolution, Whipple, a strong "dry," said "This thing looks like political intimidation. It seems to me it is designed so that members of the house can get by the state patrol with liquor in their cars."

Defense Bills Pass.

Representative J. Frank Hatchett, of Meriwether, rose and asked: "Are you ashamed to have people see on your car that you are a member of the legislature?"

"The people of Georgia already know that I'm a member," Whipple replied.

The house approved three national defense measures by Senator Helen Coxon, of the second— one to permit the Governor to appoint special policemen to protect the state's property, another to require registration and licensing by owners of high explosives, and another to permit the state defense corps to pursue saboteurs, insurgents, and other enemy forces beyond the borders of the state.

Ellis Arnall Home Robbed of Silver

Attorney General Ellis Arnall returned to his office yesterday after a weekend trip to Florida and reported that burglars had broken into his home at Newnan while he was gone and made off with an undetermined amount of silver.

Notifying Newnan police, Arnall also asked the Atlanta department to check local pawn shops. He said the value could not be determined until Mrs. Arnall's return next week.

Test of Oysters By Health Unit Asked in Bill

Another Measure Would Raise Pay of Education Board Members.

The edibility of oysters and shellfish would be determined by the State Health Department under a bill submitted to the house yesterday by the Chatham delegation.

The measure authorizes the health director to name inspectors.

A pay raise for Education Board members was suggested by Representative Kennedy, of Tattnall. His bill would change the per diem from $2 to $5.

The friction of past years between Florida and Georgia was recalled in a resolution by Brooks, of Mitchell, citing efforts of Florida and Georgia legislatures to effect reciprocal trade agreements on eggs, fish and other products.

The resolution asked for a committee to work out some program of co-operation with the speaker of the Florida house and a similar committee.

Richmond county's delegation wants to honor the Confederate General Joe Wheeler by naming for him the highway from Augusta via Thomson, Washington, Athens, Atlanta, Rome, Dalton to Chattanooga.

Dorsey, of Cobb, and Simmons, of Decatur, proposed amending the general tax act to provide that domestic and domesticated foreign corporations shall be taxed on the same basis.

Fulton delegation introduced a bill to provide for the payment of a pension to the widow of C. E. Lyles, former deputy sergeant and veteran member of the Fulton police department.

And when Bob makes no attempt to remarry her, things are really in a bad way, made worse by the romantic attentions of Bob's law partner, Gene Raymond (now a brunet), toward Carole. ### Roxy.

Humphrey Bogart and Ida Lupino, who bounded into screen stardom with their interpretations in "They Drive by Night," are starred together for the first time in "High Sierra," a thoroughly exciting and well-produced gangster film with all the trimmings at the Roxy.

Bogart is the gangster sprung out of jail to do a robbery. Lupino is the girl one of the boys brings along. She falls for him, but he wants nothing to do with a woman when he has an important job to do. But she sticks around and tries to help him.

In the meantime, between jail springing and reporting for the job, Bogart falls in love with a little club-footed girl, Joan Leslie, and determines to make his job a success to get funds to finance an operation for her. The film ends with a thrilling manhunt in which the posse, a little dog, Bogart and Lupino are the suspense makers.

Paramount.

"Nice Girl?," newest of the Deanna Durbin films, moves to the Paramount theater to continue its run begun last week at the Fox theater.

In the supporting cast are Robert Benchley, Franchot Tone, Ann Gillis, Anne Gwynne, Helen Broderick, and Walter Brennan.

The story is concerned with Deanna's attempt to gain sophistication and overcome the romantic handicaps of being classified as the town's nice girl.

Capitol.

When "Oomph in Swingtime" opens at the Capitol theater Sunday, it will bring to Atlanta one of the most vivacious and dynamic stage and screen stars ever to grace the stage of that playhouse.

Fifi D'Orsay, the little energetic French star with the contagious laugh, flirting ways and rolling eyes.

Heading the supporting cast in this scintillating stage show is another Broadway and Hollywood star, Lee Dixon, who co-starred with Ruby Keeler in Warner Brothers' "Ready, Willing and Able."

Ann Dupont, "the female Artie Shaw," appears with her 10 Men of Music and her clarinet. Another member of the cast is Jack Horner, whose Hollywood Stars on Strings is a novelty. Marie Bartell, the blond mannequin, and the William Brothers also are featured.

On the screen the Capitol will offer "Always a Bride," starring Rosemary Lane.

"Night Train" continues, with a stage show, through Saturday.

Beauty Queen Wage Revision Of '41 Chosen Contemplated At University In Textile Mills

Name, However, Will Be Withheld Until Yearbook Is Issued.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 26.—(AP)—The University of Georgia beauty queen of 1941 was chosen last night at the annual Pandora Beauty Revue, but her name will not be known until the yearbook is issued in the spring.

The three judges announced nine finalists, each of whom will be featured on a full page in the 1941 Pandora. Twenty-five sponsors of fraternities and men's dormitories started out in the competition.

Finalists are Norma Greer, Athens; Barbara Nelson, Atlanta; Eleanor Morgan, Guyton; Julia Ann Mobley, Stone Mountain; Elise Cartey, Athens; Peggy Williams, Athens; Billie Davis, Rome; Janice Hatcher, Macon, and Mary Helen Johnson, Americus.

Reaching the semi-final round were Edith Ann Teasley, Toccoa; Betty Braungart, Atlanta; Harriett Etheridge, Albany, and Louise Hall, Blue Ridge.

Judges were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bush-Brown, Atlanta artists, and Alonzo M. Lansford, of Savannah, director of the Telfair Academy of Arts and Sciences.

While many members of the new committee have been designated, officials of the wage-hour division declined to make their names public until the roster had been completed. It was understood that it would be a 15-man rather than 21-member committee, which established the first minimum above 30 cents.

Although spokesmen for the cotton industry particularly have urged that the new committee undertake its duties as soon as possible, some delay was expected while the wage-hour division completed a survey of the effects of the 32 1-2 cent minimum which went into effect in October, 1939.

The 32 1-2 cent minimum, established then, recently was the basis for a supreme court decision upholding the wage-hour law.

About 650,000 workers are covered by the Textile Industry Committee and the 32 1-2 cent order resulted in wage increases for 125,000 workers in the cotton industry, of which 120,000 were estimated to be employed in southern mills.

Economists estimated that a total of 200,000 would be affected by a further increase in the wage order. Speculation here centered on the possibility of a 35-cent minimum wage, with union representatives reported ready to demand 40 cents.

There was little likelihood that the new committee would be ready to make any recommendation on a new wage order for at least a month and probably longer, informed persons indicated.

Of the 650,000 workers covered by the minimum, labor officials estimated that 400,000 alone were employed in the cotton industry.

British Seize Two Vichy Freighters

One of the ships seized was identified as the Sompay, bound for France with a cargo of food and discharged soldiers from French Indo-China after calling at Madagascar.

The other was the Louis Dreyfus, bound for Madagascar with empty holds.

Turkey Waits

There is no reason to believe that Turkey will abandon its British friends in the present Balkan crisis. The presence of Anthony Eden and Sir John Dill, British army chief of staff, in Ankara indicates that the two nations are working in close harmony, with complete understanding.

Because of the recently signed treaty of non-aggression between Turkey and Bulgaria some people have thought the Ankara government was preparing to back out of the obligations of the treaty signed with Britain and with France in 1939. Yet this was, evidently, not the purpose of the Bulgarian agreement. It was, rather, a warning to Bulgaria that so long as she did nothing to imperil the safety or the independent sovereignty of Turkey, the latter nation will do nothing to endanger Bulgaria.

However, if Bulgaria allows free passage for German armies through her territory, so that they may strike at Saloniki or on the flank of the Greek forces driving the Italians in Albania, there is little doubt that Turkey will act. For such a German advance would seriously peril not only Turkish control of the Dardanelles, but the very existence of European Turkey itself. It may be safely stated that the Turks will never consent, without fighting, to their nation becoming a mere puppet of the Nazi machine, like Rumania.

Meanwhile, the British consolidate their gains in Libya and prepare to take the final Italian stronghold, Tripoli. Once this is done the bulk of General Wavell's African army will be free for use either with the Turks or the Greeks, or both. A different picture is forming in the Balkans and the situation there may be utterly changed within the next couple of months.

As it stands now, it is in many respects a race between the Wavell troops and the forces of nature, to see if they can wind up the Libyan campaign before spring comes to make easier the advance of German armies across Bulgaria and southward.

Bombs Vs. Snores

A poll of Britain, conducted by the British counterpart of the American Gallup Poll, reveals that Englishmen are not losing much, if any, sleep because of the bombings of the Luftwaffe.

Most of those questioned reported they were managing, comfortably, to secure their seven or eight hours of sleep per night and the chief reaction to the interruptions in Morpheus' realm was a desire that the RAF should wake up the folks in Germany a little more frequently.

Thus the battle of bombs vs. snores goes on in England with the bombs, apparently, making a poor showing so far. Of course, no one will deny that the explosion of a half-ton bomb in one's immediate vicinity is apt to arouse one from the deepest slumber. Yet the human can adapt himself to almost any circumstances and many Englishmen today are sleeping soundly under conditions impossible for somnolence a few months ago.

And the side of the snores has one invaluable ally. The proverbial phlegmatic attitude of your average Briton. He is hard to arouse in more senses than one and it takes an awful disturbance to interfere with the way of life installed by ancestors of many generations gone.

Amazing Logic

It is little short of amazing to read that a proposal to merge the high schools of Atlanta into co-educational institutions is the only remedy that our education pundits have been able to offer for insanitary conditions in the cafeteria at Boys' High school.

This undesirable condition in the cafeteria, together with a report of ribald and bawdy scribbles on the lavatory walls will, it is contended, be eliminated because of the civilizing influence of womanhood, in the presence of several hundred high school girls mingling in classes and on the campus with the boys.

It would seem that the advocates of this plan are placing too great a burden of responsibility on the youthful feminine shoulders. Untold millions of women have tried, in vain, to reform but one man, a husband, and at that a man of marriageable age is always easier to influence than boys of the irresponsible ages of the late teens.

The high schools of Atlanta are institutions with long histories of which they are rightfully proud. They have heritages of achievement and to lose these school personalities by merger would be little short of tragic.

Wouldn't it be easier for the school authorities to exercise a modicum of discipline at Boys' High, which is all that is needed to remedy the evils complained of? Even though the co-educational idea prevailed, discipline would undoubtedly still be necessary. Or is it too much to ask that the small proportion of boys who thus disgrace their school be made to behave like gentlemen? Perhaps, if the constituted authorities are incapable of handling the matter, the students themselves who are, in vast majority, fine and decent young fellows, could enforce a little necessary restraint on the few who bring disgrace on all.

While war raged on either side, an editor at Bengazi went about preparing the next day's newspaper. It is for those who read between the lines.

Garden Contest

Few ideas have contained greater potentiality of good for the entire city than that which animated the start of The Constitution-sponsored Yard and Garden contest.

Atlanta is famous for the attractiveness of its homes. Visitors to the city invariably exclaim over the pleasant vistas of the quiet residential streets and avenues. Not so much the comparatively few areas made beautiful by the mansions of the wealthy, but the middle class who live in comparatively humble homes yet who contrive, by effort and a little expense, to make each one a gem of homelike allure.

Anything which contributes to better and more beautiful gardens and lots surrounding the homes of Atlanta contributes to the beauty and the prosperity of the city as a whole. It adds to Atlanta's fame and increases the desirability of Atlanta as a home for thousands who are induced to come here to live.

The garden contest offers handsome prizes for entrants whose gardens and yards show the greatest improvement during the year. There are, of course, some which need improvement badly. These are the eyesores which, by carelessness of their owners, so often mar an otherwise lovely block or street of homes.

Various classes in the contest are open to all groups in Greater Atlanta, both white and colored. When it is over and the decision of the judges is announced, all will congratulate the prize winners but the greater congratulation must be reserved for the city which has been made a more lovely place because of the contest.

Georgia Editors Say:

HIS HEAD UNBOWED
(From The Valdosta Times.)

The Times carried the story of Mr. W. W. Webb, beloved Hahira resident, coming to Valdosta to see a group of nine youngsters from this county going into their country's service in time of emergency.

Four times has Mr. Webb seen groups of young men from Lowndes county march forth in answer to the call of their country. In the War Between the States, Mr. Webb saw his father and uncles leave to join the southern cause. In the Spanish-American War he witnessed the departure from home of young men who were eager to do their part. In the World War, Mr. Webb's own son responded to the call of the colors to die on the battlefield of France. And this week he gave his blessing to the group that left Valdosta to enter Army training for a period of one year that they might be ready for any eventuality that the future may develop.

Despite the heartaches and sorrows that past and present wars have brought to him, he keeps his head up and his chin out. He never misses an opportunity to let the world know that he is intensely an American and that his whole being is deeply conscious of his devotion to his country and to the principles on which it was founded.

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

ON A WARTIME BASIS? WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—This country's attitude towards the war, as manifested here at the capital, has already passed through two quite distinct phases. In the first phase, which lasted until the fall of France, our interest in the war was not generally acknowledged. Nothing much was done about it beyond the salient repeal of the arms embargo. In the second phase, only now coming to an end, it was realized that the war affected vital American interests. Yet the attempt was made to cope with the problem in spare time.

The fairly obvious fact that winning the war is a full-time job seems likely to be recognized at last in the third phase, soon to be ushered in by passage of the lease-lend bill. The change, to date, is large and atmospheric, but it can be taken for granted that such a perceptible change in atmosphere portends more tangible developments in the near future.

4,500 PLANES A MONTH A case in point is the air program. It was reported in this space a few days ago that responsibility for air production was finally to be fixed, either in the hands of New York's bustling Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, as a sort of American Beaverbrook, or in the equally capable hands of Robert A. Lovett and Thomas G. Corcoran, assistant secretaries of war and navy, respectively. Simultaneously, a movement is afoot to recognize the inadequacy of our present scope of air preparation and to expand it greatly. If the President approves—and the grim facts of British and American air needs will almost force him to do so—the objective of the air program will be raised from 3,000 planes a month to 4,500 planes a month by the end of 1941.

In certain quarters the need to raise the air program objective was clearly understood two months ago. During periods of transition, such as the present, however, governmental machine moves with cumbersome deliberation. The matter is only now coming to a head.

Assuming that the objective is raised, a tremendous national and governmental effort will be required to meet it. Planning, so far, has been extremely haphazard. Neither the War and Navy Departments, nor the Office of Production Management, have enforced real priority for defense production over normal business. Speeding up the expansion of manufacturing facilities to produce 50 per cent more planes will call for rigid, efficient planning. The job can be done. The factory space exists or can be built. The labor exists or can be trained. The airplane and engine models are ready to be turned out. But severe sacrifices will be called for to procure adequate machine tools.

There is a machine tool bottleneck for three reasons. (1) Because planning was poor or nonexistent, and because the scope of preparation was too small, mass orders for machine tools were not placed at the start of the defense program. (2) Reasonable economy in machine tool use was not attempted. Instead of tapping American industry's huge reserves of standard tools, and only ordering new special tools, standard and special tools were ordered together indiscriminately. Thus the machine tool industry was doubly overburdened. (3) Subcontracting was long delayed, thus encouraging some manufacturers to expand their plants enormously while other plants stood idle.

Had planning been better at the start, no sacrifices would be necessary now. As it is, however, machine tool priorities will have to be rather harshly enforced in two directions. As the air expansion is undoubtedly the most vital sector of the defense effort, it will have to be given the right of way over other defense work. And whenever peacetime industry has tools that can be converted for use in manufacturing airplanes, the conversion will have to be made. This will mean diminished output, and perhaps a complete stoppage of peacetime production, in a good many industries. But the choice between having the usual large quantities of automobiles, electric washing machines and the like, and succeeding with the defense program, is not a difficult choice to make.

THE BIG STEP The really significant aspect of the situation is that the President, the chiefs of the defense services and the top men in the OPM now seem ready to face this choice squarely, and to make it boldly. Until recently, that was not their mood. OPM Director William S. Knudsen frankly stated shortly after his appointment to the Defense Commission that he intended to superimpose defense production on normal business production. At that time the President had a happy idea that the slack between our actual production and our potential would be sufficient for all war needs. Although both men later warned that war would require sacrifices, these warnings were never translated into decisions. According to persons in close contact with him, the President simply was not ready to take the big step. Defense officials' demand that the President bluntly tell the country it is on a wartime basis to the OPM's behind-the-scenes struggle to put itself together. They all point to the conclusion that the big step will soon be taken.

Time for ## Change of Name.

Having attended, this week, a feminine fashion show which featured what they nowadays call hats, and having observed the concoctions the models wore perched upon their coiffures, I have reached the decision that it is time for the launching of a new campaign. Let's quit calling these millinery distortions hats. For most of them are not.

Webster defines a hat as "a covering for the head." And that is what many of the things I saw most decidedly are not. They may cover, in a manner of speaking, a certain area of the cranium, perhaps one-tenth, but as hats they are woeful failures.

Let's start a campaign, fellows, to make the women call these things "head ornaments," "head decorations," or "hair trimmings," or something. But not hats. It is an insult to the memory of Stetson to call two inches of straw and an imitation chicken feather a hat.

And then let's leave it to the women to hang the aforesaid decorative adornment on whichever corner of their head they desire.

Sowing

Discord.

There is a magazine published in New York. This week a form letter seeking subscriptions came to my home. They must have gotten my name on their mailing list through error.

The letter starts by referring to "the President's recent plea for unity." It then goes on to say the nation is not united and if we were faced by a common peril, it would be.

It declares there is no "clarification of issues" and that "it is not possible to unite on any policy that is not clearly understood."

And, to cap the climax, it names a list of men it lists as modern-day American patriots, "who have nobly restated this (George Washington's) enduring policy." The list includes—and draw your own conclusions—General Robert E. Wood, General Hugh S. Johnson, Henry Ford, Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, etc., etc.

According to my own viewpoint, the nation is faced by a common peril, and the only reason why there is not 100 per cent national unity is because a few are so blind they cannot see it; or else they have succumbed to the blandishments, inducements and trickeries of the Fifth Columnists.

According to my way of thinking the issues are plainly clarified and the only ones who do not understand the national policy are those who either cannot, or will not, see the plain handwriting on the wall.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Army, Navy Customs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Civilians who have been visiting the cantonments of the new army and have seen soldiers and flat-hat sailors on the streets of cities and towns may have reasonable curiosity as to the customs of the two services which produce some of the effects that are observed in the dress and bearing of the individual.

It is a rule of the navy that sailors on liberty shall at all times maintain to the best of their individual ability, the appearance of civilian tourists in service uniform rather than of alert, disciplined members of a proud and efficient service. To this end it is required that the sailor ashore wear his pea-jacket unbuttoned and flapping in the wind or fastened with one button at most.

Efforts are made also to create a rumpled or slept-in effect in the clothing, and, although this has been done by hand to date and good results have been had, a machine has recently been invented which will rumple a suit, or blouse and the jacket in a few minutes. Owing to the unfortunate jam, or bottleneck, in the tool industry, production of these machines has been delayed, but it is hoped to have them in quantity soon, and meanwhile the handwork is very satisfactory.

A Box

Of Dust

The bearing recommended for members of liberty parties is a round, or humped-shoulder, drop, which is heightened by the placing of the hands in the pockets, and there is maintained on every well-conducted ship and station a box of powder, or dust, of a regulation brand from which, by strict requirement, every sailor, before going ashore, is required to liberate from his pockets any suggestion that they ever have been shined.

There are several brands of patent grease spots for the uniforms, but experiments still are in progress with these, and there is no regulation issue as yet, although the most effective results have been obtained from one brand which creates a remarkably realistic appearance of chop suey spilled down the front. In fact, this compound actually does consist of attar of chop suey, blended with Fo Yung dan and Yat Gar mein. These stains remain fast for a long time, so the product is economical of both effort and money, and this concentrate, therefore, probably will be adopted.

In both services a problem has arisen in creating the hillybilly or haystack effect in the hair, and it is only right that the difficulties should be known so that the results may be appreciated. The trouble is that some old, traditional efforts of both the army and the navy still insist that a short haircut around the temples and down the neck is the true military mode and are supported in this by the older noncoms and service barbers. Consequently it has been found necessary to adopt, as regulation equipment, a wool wig copied from that of Mr. Harpo Marx, the dumb one in the movie team, which is worn by those whose natural hair is not sufficiently shaggy to pass inspection. They are very strict about this, but the new tradition is growing fast and the wigs soon will be discarded as unnecessary.

Soldiers

On Pass

Soldiers on pass, too, are required to wear their coat unbuttoned, keep their hands in their pockets at all times and walk with a slouch, and some of the old regulars have been picked up by the M. P. S. for failure to observe one or more of these new requirements. The regulars and certain veteran members of the national guard have been stubborn, too, or, at any rate, slow to learn the new position of attention, in which the abdomen is thrust prominently to the fore, the head is rolled slowly from side to side, while the left little finger jiggles in the left ear, in three counts. Some of the more up-to-date units also chew gum at attention.

The modernized "military manner" on pass is a radical departure from old custom and would drive General Pershing crazy—a fact which certainly dates the old man with his foggy superstitions about enemies slipping up on inattentive sentries in the guise of salesmen or strangers wanting to know the correct time and conking them over the head. And he would go nuts over the new salute, too, in which the head is bowed down to meet the rising hand half way, but there, again, you have the contrast between the old and the new.

The theory behind all this seems thoroughly sound. The theory is that because the German soldiers and sailors are snappy, close-barbered, neat and always on their toes and the United States is anti-Nazi in all things, the greatest possible contrast should be maintained in these particulars, too.

Word Stories

By W. Worthington Wells

"Is the Panama canal safe—plus?" the nation asks as storm clouds gather. M. Johnson noted war correspondent and author of books on military subjects, says, "To blow up the canal's world-famous locks would require much more than a minute and a Fourth of July firecracker, but they are far from invulnerable."

INVULNERABLE.

Invulnerable is an adjective pronounced in-VUL-ner-a-ble. If the accent is placed on the proper syllable (vul) which is pronounced the same as (vul) in vulture, there should be no pronunciation problem here. Be sure to enunciate the (a). It is like that in above. "To blow up the canal's world-famous locks would require much more than a minute and a Fourth of July firecracker, but they are far from invulnerable."

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

SHADE OF "OLD HICKORY" There was an organization dinner in our town Tuesday evening, preparatory to the Jackson Day dinner of next March 29.

The shade of "Old Hickory" was powerful enough to bring together all the warring factions of the Democratic party. Mr. Talmadge was there, separated from Mr. E. D. Rivers only by the pneumonia-weakened frame of Mr. Ryburn Clay, the chairman. Mr. Talmadge and Mr. Rivers are no more friendly than Bill Green and John L. Lewis. But both were there, going through the perfunctory handshake and greeting. Mr. Clay sat between them, the perfect diplomat and the perfect host. All went well.

Over in a corner sat Mr. Charles Redwine, the gentleman from Fayetteville. He said nothing and asked nothing. Other partisans and rivals were there but they were just Democrats together, and if there were any animosities they were muted or whispered under the breath. They held their fire until later on when they were with their own.

The shade of "Old Hickory" held them together. The party will honor him, at $25 the plate, on March 29. This time it is to be hoped there will be none of those misguided persons who think the money is spent for the dinner. The dinner costs about $2.50 or $3. The remainder goes to the party war chest of the Democratic party. When you attend the dinner you are making a contribution to the party. I would like to have this understood at this early date so there will be no complaints. The Jackson Day dinners are to honor "Old Hickory" and to raise money for the party.

And so, Tuesday evening, the warring factions were just Democrats together. There were no hard words and no glaring eyes. THE CLAY PIGEON One of the nonpolitical guests was amazed to see ex-Governor Rivers looking so well and so chipper.

"I expected to see him full of holes," said this gentleman. "I thought surely Mr. Hell-Bent Edwards had ridden him. He has been the clay pigeon for the administration trap shooters to fire at for some weeks now. Yet he isn't bleeding anywhere."

Mr. Rivers was gay and debonair and cheerful. If he had a worry he didn't show it.

This gentleman who saw him sat down and used up some of the hotel's free ink and paper writing to Mr. Hell-Bent Edwards. "Dear Mr. Edwards," he began. "Of all the bad shots I ever heard of you are the worst. You ain't even winged this guy yet. I looked him over and he hasn't got a single wound."

He thought better of it, though, and tore it up. "Who am I," he said, "to criticize. I'm not really interested in his aim. I just thought Mr. Rivers was ridden."

Both Mr. Rivers and Mr. Talmadge, and most of their followers, know what it is to be a political clay pigeon. Only rarely do the marksmen really smash the target. And even when it is smashed the target has been known to reassemble itself and appear once more for the foe to fire at.

Politics are a great game of give-and-take. Four years ago, at this time, the legislature was busy cleansing the public houses of "Talmadgeism." Today they have about completed the job of cleansing them of "Riversism."

Mr. Rivers stands up well as a clay pigeon . . . the great shot at. They have hit him, of course. But how hard no one will know until at least a couple or four years have come and gone.

THE GOVERNOR CAN'T MISS

The Governor made a solemn, unusual sort of talk. He spoke of the fact his son soon would be going off to war. And he said, truly, that when it all was over we would have a new sort of world. He thought that right now we ought to be going back to the fundamentals of "Old Hickory."

That's well, and good. "Old Hickory" was a fundamental sort of person. I wonder what sort of a fit the Chicago Tribune, and all other Roosevelt hater would throw, if Mr. Roosevelt were to threaten to hang some of those opposing him.

Oh, well. "Old Hickory" did. He sent word to John C. Calhoun, who was breathing fire down in South Carolina and threatening to secede because of taxes, that he, "Old Hickory," would have him hanged if he did not pay up by a certain date. He paid.

Once, when he was fighting the entrenched money powers of the nation, he told them he would hang them if they were not very careful.

They called him a dictator and "King Andrew" and all that sort of thing. A supreme court justice said that democracy was gone and the nation was under the rule of a single man. That's why I yawn and yawn today as the Roosevelt haters complain about a dictatorship.

Talmadge hardly can miss making a great record as Governor. All he has to do is to combat that most insidious of all public diseases—power. The possession of power is a terrible disease. Power has ruined more generals, governors, newspapermen and businessmen than any other disease.

Well, we will honor Old Hickory. Of all the men in American history he is my favorite. The Young Democrats ought to get busy in this campaign to honor "Old Hickory." I don't see why we don't have a special table for them.

Liberty Given by a Master Can Be Taken Away as Easily

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

We hear much talk about constitutional rights, much of it by people who have run afoul of the law, but those who haven't read the Constitution usually attribute to it miraculous powers that it doesn't possess.

In popular fancy, these powers are in the Bill of Rights or the first eight amendments.

But these amendments do not give a single right to anybody. That was not their purpose.

Man naturally possesses, and the Constitution assumes that he possesses, all rights and all liberties. And one man living alone can exercise all these rights and liberties.

But where many live together, they must protect their rights by forming a government to keep order and establish rules of conduct. And forming this government requires co-operation and the surrender of rights that conflict with the rights of others.

The Constitution is a contract between free people and the government they have formed. It does indeed protect the rights of the people, but it protects them from the government.

Knowing that governments tend to assume ever greater powers, the authors of the Constitution made it clear that the people retained all rights except those expressly conferred upon the government.

The Constitution says to the government: "Thus far shalt thou go and no farther."

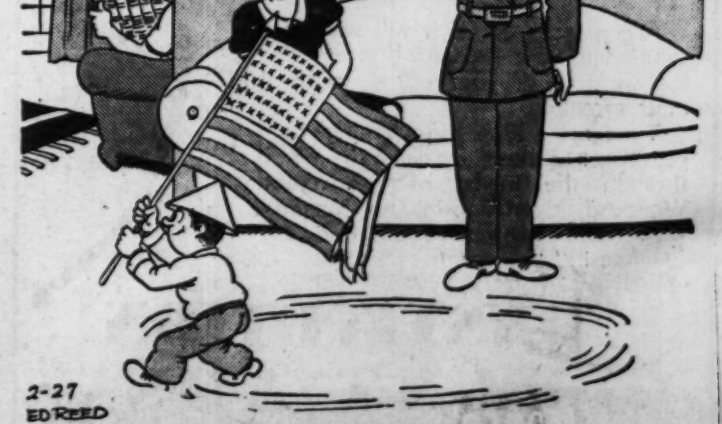

The amendments that concern the rights of assembly and petition and free speech and freedom of the press, etc., do not give these rights to the people. Man has possessed them since the beginning. The amendments merely write into the contract an agreement that these natural rights shall never be taken away by the government.

That is a vital distinction which free people must understand and remember.

For liberty is scarcely worth defending if it is something the government can grant or take away at will.

The rights we must defend are natural rights, and they must be defended against encroachment by our own government as against a foreign tyrant.

ROSES AT CAPITOL ARE NOT CHEROKEE

Editor Constitution: Referring to your recent story headlined "Capitol Roses Not Cherokee, Botanist Says":

Dr. Campbell, quoted in this story on the common confusion between rosa bracteata and rosa laevigata, is, of course, correct. Just the same it would seem rather a shame to remove the specimens of the MacCartney Rose (bracteata) from the Capitol building. First, because contributed by a very well-known and interested woman and second, because—and here, perhaps, Dr. Campbell will agree—it is rather more manageable in plantings, has been in Georgia, perhaps, as long as the Cherokee (laevigata) and does bloom sometimes during the summer and fall. Why not label these correctly and plant the true Cherokee where its climbing habit it could be managed?

Writing from a building containing at least several old botanists, and talking on the telephone with several local botanists, on the trail of a supposed single flowered white rose of climbing or shrub habit, actually native, one comes to the conclusion at present that there is none. On this it would be interesting to hear from Dr. Eugene Heath, of the Atlanta Arboretum.

William Bartram in his travels seems to mention no Georgia roses at all (with the London, 1792 edition in hand). Elliott's Botany of South Carolina and Georgia, 1821, mentions rosa laevigata as having been in cultivation in this region for 40 years under the name Cherokee Rose and as of unknown origin. Elliott does not mention rosa bracteata, so, perhaps, this came in from China at a later period. I once saw a story to the effect that the captain, and the name of his ship was known in which the first Cherokee was brought to England and that the first plant brought to America was to a Maryland garden two or three years after 1800. Elliott's Botany pushes that date back, traditionally. Even though the Cherokee is of Chinese origin it is entwined in the traditions and history of the state in a way that no other flower could replace.

DON'T BURN THE HOUSE TO GET RID OF A RAT

Editor Constitution: While there is so much fur flying about the union labor situation, may I have the privilege of adding my nickel's worth?

To begin with, I am a member of organized labor—in the metal trades—but being a member doesn't give me the right nor the inclination to defend any form of racketeering in or out of my organization. While I am not cognizant of any grafting being carried on, I'd be one of the first to help kick out any officer of my local that tried it. But since the local elects those officers, we just don't elect that sort.

Of course, there are racketeers in some unions. And as Dewey Johnson has so ably pointed out, there are grafters in every organization, where large numbers of men and money are represented. But because a bank official misappropriates the bank's funds (steals is the word if others do it) we don't condemn all bankers as such, do we? And when a minister runs off with a pretty parishioner, do we try to pass laws to make the churches illegal?

It is downright silly to burn the whole house down because there is a mouse lurking in the interior—or even a rat—and it will be worse than silly, it will be disastrous to destroy in Georgia what it has taken a generation to erect—union labor that has taken six-year-old children from cotton mills, and raised the wages in other sweat shops to more than mere car fare.

By all means get rid of racketeers in government, business and everything else, but we don't have to chop down the churches, the state house and labor temple to do it. If that is what we want, let's send for Stalin, Hitler or Mussolini—they'll do it quicker than the legislature!

Ollie Reeves Types About the Best He Has Done Up to Now.

CALLING MR. Kipling. I wish that Mr. Kipling could have lived a little longer; I'd like to have him know a "Tommy Atkins" even stronger.

Than those he used to write about; who drank their gin and beer And fought to save the Empire in the days when he was here.

He knew the ways of camel trains and horse artillery— I wish he might have seen the lads who make the RAC.

He would have been enthralled to watch the British people stick Through all the hellish fury when the bombs are falling thick.

I wish he might have stood upon the white-chalk cliffs of Dover And watched the fires across the way when boats were going over;

The little boats, the pleasure boats, the launch and fishing smack Or any piece of floating junk to bring a soldier back.

The burning sands of Africa are burning hot again . . .

Another British army, marching on through sweat and pain, Is mopping up the enemy upon a foreign shore.

The way the other armies did a hundred years before.

I often wish "R. K." . . . who knew the British people well Was here to watch the present armies storm the gates of hell;

To write again of fighting men where England's standard flies—

Though men of Empire perish that old spirit never dies!

One Time for State

Most of the comments in the Georgia press favor the establishment of one "time" for Georgia—and all think eastern standard time for the state would be best. As I have long urged.

If the bill passes the general assembly it still will have to be approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, but I have an idea that if that body thinks Georgia wants it she will get it.

My motive is a bit selfish. Nineteenth of my travel is into the eastern time zone and I'm always in a hurry. I lose an hour getting there, thus holding up multitudes of thousands who have been standing since dawn waiting to get a glimpse of me. No, no photographs of the multitudes are available. Something happened to the cameras.

When I start home I gain an hour. But who is in a hurry to get home? The furnace fire is out, the mansion is as cold as a bank president's heart and the dog is being boarded at a kennel.

Personally, I don't care whether Georgia goes to eastern or standard or Rocky Mountain time, because my hours are largely my own and I get up when I can't sleep any longer. But I think eastern time would be best for less fortunate folk who have a keep a schedule.

Our Dumb Friends

Henry McIntosh, of the Albany Herald, treasures the tooth of a mastodon and the other day, having run out of soap, as we famous columnists say when we can't find an idea to steal, he wrote a screed about how a mastodon must have suffered from toothache, if he—or she—ever had toothache. With no dentists at hand.

That reverie led him to shedding tears of pity for the poor giraffe with a sore throat.

But Mr. McIntosh might have gone further in his sympathy for our dumb friends—some of which are not so dumb as you might think.

What about a turtle which acquires an itch in his tummy? Did you ever try to scratch an itch while attired in steel armor? But maybe you never donned steel armor, even for a masquerade. Anyway, I trust you can imagine the turtle's predicament.

I should think, too, that a blacksnake which had swallowed a croquet ball would be embarrassed in trying to crawl back into his hole when curfew sounded. A blacksnake is slender—even sylph-like in figure. You might say attenuated. And his front door is designed to fit snugly.

He could get halfway into his boudoir without difficulty, going forwards. But he couldn't reach his cozy bed.

He could back out, of course, and then try to back in, but with slight beneficial results. One-half of him would be out in the cold all night.

It is true that I have never observed a blacksnake who had swallowed a croquet ball. I do not observe blacksnakes—nor any brand of snakes—if I can leave unobtrusively and rapidly.

But the subject offers a certain fascination, don't you think? Or do you? What would you like to talk about?

Typist's line about her boss—a most exclusive big shot: "He's as hard to meet as the last payment on a vacuum cleaner."

Good Morning

By Dr. Louie D. Newton.

Tomorrow has been designated as World Day of Prayer by the National Committee of Church Women. Not only throughout the United States, but around the encircling globe, Christians will unite in prayer to God that a just and abiding peace may soon come to the heart of all mankind.

In Atlanta there will be a city-wide meeting of women at the Druid Hills Presbyterian church, beginning at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. All people who are interested in this call to prayer are cordially invited to attend this meeting. Similar meetings will be held in some centrally located church in every community in the state.

A special day of prayer in this troubled hour of the world is most timely. Last year the World Day of Prayer met with hearty response, and many are the testimonies from widely representative communities of the world of the blessing which come to those who joined in that day of prayer. Such will be the experience of all who unite in prayer tomorrow. "Men ought always to pray, and not faint," said Jesus, and He not only spoke this word of admonition concerning prayer, but in His own daily example taught men the necessity and primacy of prayer.

Surely this is an hour demanding a power not our own. Conscious of our need of wisdom, of strength of guidance, let us heed this call of the good women, linking our prayers in the confidence that wherever God's children are gathered in His name, there is He to own and bless.

The committee sends out this beautiful prayer: "Father of all mankind, throughout this day, and every day, help me to remember that a very real portion of Thy Kingdom has been played in my keeping. Teach me to love Thee with all my mind, that I may think Thy thoughts after Thee, from dawn to dark, making beautiful and significant each decision of my daily living. Help me to remove all prejudice and small-mindedness, O Lord. Teach me to love Thee with all my heart, that I may love those whom Thou lovest, feeling for even the most unlovable and difficult of Thy children, Thine own everlasting mercy. Teach me to love Thee with all my soul, that I may seek fresh ways in which we can all be one in Jesus Christ our Lord, praying Thy divine power to surge through my commonplace routine from morning till night. Teach me to love Thee with all my strength, that I may work the works of Him who sent me while it is day, seeking to channel through every act Thy devotion to the needs of both my neighbor and myself. Remind me from moment to moment that this is not optional, but the last command of Jesus Christ, our Lord. Quickened me and use me this day, for Thy name's sake. Amen."

Senate Passes 4 General Bills, Tables Another

Education Boards Are Affected by Approved Measures.

The state senate yesterday bit into its clogged calendar by passing four general bills and tabling a fifth, and as adjournment drew near heard a lengthy substitute to an administration bill setting up provisions under which defeated primary candidates can demand recounts.

The tabling measure seeks to give priority privileges to school teachers over other school employees in the payment of salaries for the locally financed eighth and ninth months in the annual semester.

Drawn by Senator Benton Odom Jr., of Newton, the measure stipulates that county boards of education in spending money from the equalization fund—which supports the two extra months—all most counties must first pay all teachers and then use whatever is left over for other employees and expenses.

Measure Is Tabled.
The bill was attacked on the ground that it would "hog-tie" school boards by limiting their ability to use the money where it is needed most. Odom argued that teachers "needed it most" and should be shown priority in payment. He made the tabling motion.

Two companion bills by Senator J. A. Drake, of Colquitt, authorize county boards of education to employ and pay trade and commerce teachers on the same basis as they now employ vocational and home economics instructors and to levy taxes for such additional expenditures.

The bills passed without objection after Drake explained that the provisions enable schools to take advantage of federal government plans to equip schools with tools and machinery for such work.

A third bill by Drake, also passed, forbids any educational institution from discriminating against any graduate of a school which meets the requirements of the State Board of Education on the grounds that the school attended is not a member of some private accrediting association.

Education Grant Bill.
Also passed without opposition was a bill by Senator O. W. Hill, of Greenville, which authorizes the State Board of Education to accept grants and donations from public or private institutions for the carrying on of the public school system.

This bill, also, fits in with the national defense program of the federal government to install machine shops and other vocational training departments in public schools. An amendment suggested by Senator Hill also was passed, providing that the accepted grants do not apply to old or future incumbrances but only to present plans.

At the close of the session President Charles Redwine warned the senators that in a few days a flood of bills from the house would come over to the senate.

Man Pays Income Tax and $10 More

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 26.—(P) One Mississippi resident is willing to do more than his legal share for national defense.

Eugene Fly, United States collector of internal revenue for Mississippi, today reported receipt of an income tax payment and the following note:

"Please note my check attached includes $10 more than the amount of tax, which is for the defense fund. As my taxes are so little, I feel that I should pay as much as I can to the defense expense."

Fly's taxpayer, whose name was not revealed, "earned less than $2,000 last year and had two dependents, which makes his patriotic gesture all the more noteworthy."

and further clog the calendar. Although the number of senate bills to be considered is not great, if added to a sudden deluge of house measures the total might put the upper house far behind. Only three weeks are left in the term.

Amendments Approved.
The senate also concurred with the house of representatives on amendments added to two senate measures.

The first amendment was a limitation placed on a bill exempting all co-operative, non-profit corporations engaging in rural electrification from taxes. The amendment exempts them for 20 years.

An amendment requiring, too, the display of driver's licenses was added by the house to a bill requiring patrons of tourist camps to sign their "true and legal" names on the camp guest register and also notify the management of their automobile license number.

These bills, when signed by the governor, will become law.

Farmer Even Gets Boot On Used-Mule Trade-In

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. CARROLLTON, Ga., Feb. 26.—C. M. Stallings, field representative of the Carrollton Production Credit Association, is authority for this story on the "used mule market."

Stallings reports that D. A. Alexander, of Burwell, this week traded in a $75 mule that has made 18 crops for him, got another mule in good working order, and $25 to boot.

Alexander doesn't deny it, and Stallings says he remembers the year the "trade-in" went into service—in 1923—and that the animal had done excessive mule duty on the thriving "one-horse" farm since.

Walker's Term Not Extended; Slate Adopted

Georgia-Florida Leaders Fail To Agree on New Proposal.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 26.—(P)—Directors of the Georgia-Florida League last night adopted a 140-game schedule for 1941, but failed to agree on proposals to extend the term of office of President A. D. Walker.

Director first defeated a proposal to amend the league's constitution and by-laws which would extend the president's term from one to two years.

Director W. T. Smith, of Tallahassee, then offered a substitute measure calling for extension of the president's term from one to two years. A stalemate resulted in the voting, and the question was held open until the next directors' meeting.

The season will open April 16. Favoring the two-year term for president were Directors M. M. Wiggins, Albany; W. T. Smith, Tallahassee; V. D. Wheel, Thomasville, and Hollis Oliver, Valdosta. Opposing it were W. T. Anderson, Americus; Alex Hall, Moultrie. With parliamentary law calling for a majority of the league's directors to pass the amendment, it failed of passage.

In a statement to the directors in response to proposals made by the Albany and Tallahassee directors and the opposition expressed by the Americus and Moultrie clubs, President Walker called attention to the fact that when he took office six years ago the league's finances were depleted, whereas it has now grown from a six to an eight-count circuit with $2,000 in the treasury.

Confusion Seen In New British 'Eating Rules'

LONDON, Feb. 26.—(P)—Gastronomic groans arose from British trenchermen today over highly technical eating regulations which go into effect March 10.

"It's going to be harder to order a restaurant meal than get one," ran the complaint.

For example: An oyster is defined as fish, but salmon isn't fish.

The rules also stipulate that not more than one egg may be served as part of a single meal, but "for obvious reasons this cannot apply to an omelette or scrambled eggs."

Everything is divided into main dish and subsidiary dish. The main dish is meat, poultry or game. The subsidiary is "one containing less than one-third its weight in fish, eggs or cheese."

If that's not puzzling enough, without a slide-rule, the regulations say soup is not to be regarded as a main dish unless it contains more than 5 per cent by weight of solid game, poultry or meat.

Conscientious eaters are already brooding over the day when they will sight an extra morsel of chicken in the broth and cry: "Take it away, waiter. That hunk of chicken is 7 per cent!"

ARMY in Georgia

Army orders issued yesterday at Washington included the following transfers: Lieutenant Colonel Howard J. Lowry, infantry, Fort Benning to Jacksonville; Lieutenant Colonel William R. Griswold, assistant division commander, Fourth Division; Captain William H. Craze, regimental adjutant, and First Sergeant N. L. Craine.

At noon Sunday, special organizational day dinners will be served in all company mess halls, and Monday the entire regiment will be treated to a free motion picture in the main post theater.

Ovations Given Great Tibbett By Atlantans

He Can Still Sing Circles Around Most of Baritone.

By MOZELLE HORTON YOUNG. Lawrence Tibbett returned to Atlanta in concert last night to receive the heartiest of welcomes from an audience that calls him its favorite. A crowd that nearly filled the vast auditorium accorded him ovation after ovation, and he responded appreciatively with many encores.

If anyone there feared for the result of his recent throat ailment, these fears were quickly dispelled in the first group, for here was the "original" Tibbett—the voice of sonority and richness, the voice of great power, the voice of warm appeal. Here was the Tibbett that can still sing circles around most of the baritones of our age.

The first group of his program, early classic songs, was outstanding for the almost unbelievable breath control in the aria "Defend Her, Heaven," from "Theodora," Handel-Lebell.

Tibbett is not only a great vocalist, but he is a masterful interpreter. He has the rare gift of making the audience feel every mood of every song. With a strong dramatic grip he held them in four German lieder, by Strauss, Brahms, and Erich Wolff. The encore for this group was Schubert's "The Wanderer."

His rendition of the aria "Eri tu," from Verdi's "The Masked Ball," was a memorable piece of artistry, and he responded to the flood of applause with the famous aria from "Traviata," "Di Provenza il mar," which we were cheated of hearing last spring.

The other sensational spot of the program was the ballad, "Edward," by Carl Loewe, one of the finest pieces of dramatic interpretation in song that has been delivered here. Clever comedy—and here again he is the master interpreter—came in a couple of encores, Gladys Rich's "An American Lullaby" and David Guion's "All Day on the Prairie," as well as in two programmed numbers, "Betsy's Boy," by Jacques Wolfe, and "Hangman, Slack on de Line," adapted by Harvey Enders.

Stewart Wille, Mr. Tibbett's most excellent accompanist, received a big ovation for a group of piano solos, but tantalized everybody by playing, unannounced, two unfamiliar encores.

'Don't Pay Loan Sharks,' Says Bar Committee

22 Indictments Charging Usury Are Ready for Grand Jury.

Charges that 20 or more leading Atlanta loan companies have been practicing flagrant usury will be investigated today by the grand jury in special session, and 22 bills of indictment are ready to be presented, it was announced yesterday.

The bills were drawn by the usury committee of the Atlanta Bar Association, which for the last year or more has waged war on loan sharks in Atlanta.

Furthering its campaign, the committee announced yesterday it will defend free any victim who stops paying usurious rates on loans and notifies the committee. Victor K. Meador, chairman of the committee, urged all persons in the toils of the loan sharks to get in touch with members of the usury committee and stop paying illegal interest rates.

A score or more victims of loan sharks will be witnesses before the jury today as the bills of indictment, naming companies and their principal officials, are taken up. Each bill of indictment contains from two to seven counts, Meador said. Each count accuses the company or individual of charging more than 5 per cent per month interest on small loans.

Shell Explodes in Fire, Buckshot Wound Woman

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. CARROLLTON, Ga., Feb. 26.—Mrs. Burl Hammonds, 24, of near Wedowee, Ala., was admitted to a local hospital yesterday with a number of buckshot wounds in the chest after a shotgun shell had exploded when she threw chips on an open grate fire at her farm home.

Her husband, a "rolling store" operator, said he probably dropped the shell in a chip pile in his yard. Mrs. Hammonds last night gave birth to a son weighing 9 1-4 pounds.

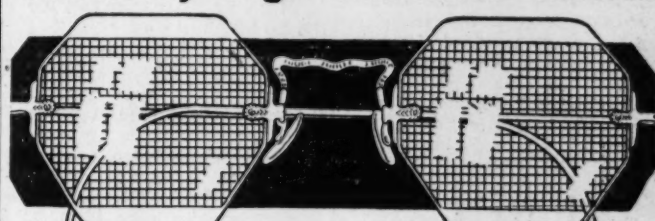

Attendants said Mrs. Hammonds was painfully but not critically hurt.

Not if it's One of these Four New Additions to the Buick SPECIAL Line that Compact Automobile Bigness into Fewer Bumper-to-Bumper Inches

HERE of late the modern automobile has been giving a pretty good imitation of a man getting up in the morning.

It has stretched and s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-d—until today you almost have to have a shoehorn to get a car of any size tucked away in the family garage.

We thought something ought to be done about that.

Thought it was time someone built a truly big car—big in ability, in room, in beauty—that was still compact enough, bumper to bumper, to fit your garage without dispossessing the garden tools.

So today in Buick dealers' showrooms you'll see four new models, additions to the 1941 Buick SPECIAL line.

They are typical Buicks on every count—trigger-quick, steady, tireless travelers with a big 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL straight-eight under their bonnets.

They dress every mile you travel in trim Buick style—cradle every yard of distance on soft all-coil springing. They top off every trip with an even greater measure of gasoline economy, thread traffic with a new nimbleness, and when it comes to parking find the proverbial dime roomy as a dance floor.

But by the simple step of compacting all this ability, goodness and value on a 118-inch wheelbase, we've trimmed inches off the over-all length—and dollars off the cost.

We're passing those dollar savings on to you, which makes three reasons for going to see these honeys now: You'll go for their ability—your wife will go for trim size and easy handling—and both will stand up and cheer for the easily-reachable price.

Turko-British Action Mapped As Eden and Dill Visit Ankara

Rumors Say British Ambassador to Soviet Russia Flying to Turkey To Consult With England's Foreign Secretary.

ANKARA, Turkey, Feb. 26.—(P)—British Foreign Secretary Eden and General Dill, chief of Britain's imperial general staff, met diplomats and Turkish leaders here today in conferences which are expected to determine the course of British-Turkish action in the Balkan crisis.

The Britons were welcomed tumultuously upon their arrival. Persistent rumors in both Istanbul and Ankara said Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador to Soviet Russia, is flying to Turkey to consult with Eden. British sources said they had no knowledge of such a flight.

It was understood that one question to be discussed by Eden and Turkish officials is the passage of foreign merchant ships through the Dardanelles to the Black sea. It is believed Britain is requesting that such vessels be allowed passage only with express permission from Ankara.

It was pointed out that Germany now controls the Rumanian Black sea port of Constanta, might soon control Bulgarian ports and thus might receive supplies for herself through them.

United States Ambassador MacMurray and the Greek minister to Ankara were among Eden's first callers.

General Dill immediately began talks with Turkish military leaders.

Eden, coming here from Cairo, will confer later with high Turkish officials. His party is expected to remain for three days.

A qualified British spokesman said he might also talk with both the Bulgarian and Yugoslav ambassadors to Turkey. It was not learned whether he had a definite message for the envoys of the two countries, which are under heavy Axis pressure.

The Turkish official radio, reporting Eden's arrival, referred repeatedly today to Britain as "our friend and ally."

The British mission was greeted at the station by Foreign Minister Saracoglu and members of his staff, the mayor of Ankara, the Greek and Polish ambassadors and the Egyptian minister.

German Warns Argentina on Trade With U.S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(P)—The National Forest Reservation Commission recommended today that the federal government provide for the eventual acquisition of 23,672,222 acres of privately-owned forest land near publicly-owned forest lands.

The cost of this program to "preserve vital resources" would be $150,000,000, the commission estimated.

Three Escape Death as Car, Train Collide

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(UP)—German Ambassador Edmund von Termmann, who returned from Berlin several days ago, tonight warned Argentina that her trade relations with the United States have no future, and that American aid to Great Britain is only a British "dream."

The ambassador cautioned Argentina not to forget Japan, who is "now on our side."

Von Termmann, who recently went to Berlin by plane to make a personal report, made his statements to the press, pointing out that postwar Germany would become the biggest buyer of Argentine goods.

He asked that the Argentines treat Germans in Argentina with "common respect."

He said that, whereas United States aid was important in the first World War because that aid went to France, England, Russia and Italy, it had now become unimportant because Italy is an Axis partner. France is occupied by the German armies, and Russia is neutral.

"New Germany," the ambassador said in his statement, "will be the most important buyer in the new European order. Germany will be in a position to export a great quantity of machinery to Argentina, and buy corn, wheat and meat, which is not the case with the United States, which has the same products as Argentina."

"For these reasons, I hope there will be maintained here an indispensable common respect for our nationals, who have contributed to the creation of industries and commerce, and have given their active life to this young nation."

ARGENTINE ISSUES FEELER ON LEASING FOREIGN SHIPS

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 26.—(P)—Acting Foreign Minister Guillermo Roca today consulted the United States and British ambassadors on the possible reactions of their governments in the event Argentina decided to lease or purchase foreign ships idling in Argentine ports.

It was explained Argentina wanted to sound out the foreign powers before taking any such measure. The German and Italian ambassadors also might be consulted, it was said.

Acting President Ramon Castillo is preparing a decree creating a division to handle a greater merchant marine and to permit Argentina to utilize the Danish, French and possibly Italian ships immobilized in Buenos Aires, it was reported.

Army Cancels Transfers From The Philippines

Orders Shifting Officers Voided; Far East Tension Blamed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(UP)—The tense Far East situation tonight was believed to have prompted a War Department order cancelling imminent transfer of Army officers from the Philippine Islands to posts on continental United States.

The department's action was revealed in daily Army orders which revoked previously arranged transfers of 66 officers, ranging in rank from lieutenant to lieutenant colonel. Officers declined comment on the order and would not say if more officers are to be affected similarly in the near future.

The order follows recent advice by the State Department to all American women and men to return immediately from the Orient, if their presence there is not absolutely essential. It also forecast possible plans by this government to maintain and perhaps augment its military might in the Philippines.

It was revealed recently that the Philippine scouts numbering about 6,000 are being doubled as possible plans by this government to maintain and perhaps augment its military might in the Philippines.

In addition, Regular Army garrisons in the Pacific possessions are being strengthened.

said by DNB to be the German naval commander of occupied France.

German Submarine Expert Reported Killed

LONDON, Feb. 26.—(P)—A Berlin radio report today that Vice Admiral Lothar von Arnauld de la Piere, of the German Navy, had been "mortally wounded" Monday night led to belief in London tonight that the German U-boat expert was killed during the Royal Air Force's heavy raid on Brest, big Nazi base.

The 54-year-old admiral was reported to have been killed when his submarine was sunk by British bombers.

When the train, headed toward Augusta, came to a stop after the collision, trainmen and passing motorists had to break open the automobile to rescue the three occupants.

They were listed as Charles and Betty Sue Wright, children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Wright, of 2934 Memorial drive, and William C. Moseley, 202 Candler road. They were placed under observation at Grady hospital after a preliminary examination had failed to reveal any broken bones.

The car was heavily damaged.

Three young persons escaped with minor injuries last night when their automobile was dragged nearly 300 feet down the railroad tracks following a collision with a Georgia freight train at the Moreland avenue crossing, police reported.

License Deadline Tomorrow Night

The deadline for purchasing 1941 license tags without a penalty is midnight tomorrow, W. Wayne Walker, director of the motor vehicle unit of the Department of Revenue, warned Georgia motorists yesterday.

Penalties will go into effect Saturday morning unless an executive order is received extending the deadline. The Governor, however, has given no notification that such an order will be issued, Walker said.

Carroll Adopts Ten-Point Plan Of Farm Policy

Program Designed To Assure 'Better Living at Home.'

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. CARROLLTON, Ga., Feb. 26.—A 10-point agenda that goes all out for a "Better-Living-at-Home" policy, and concludes with an appeal to "avoid debts and make a desperate effort to save earnings" was announced today by Carroll County's Agricultural Program Planning Committee for 1941.

The committee, headed by C. M. Stallings, is scheduled to report accomplishments of its nine-point program for 1940 tomorrow. Recommendations for 1941 swing into line with the Carroll AAA's plea for 80,000 acres in food and feedstuffs and pasturage this year, and include:

Home Need Supply.
I. Live-at-home through budgeting of gardens and orchards for family needs and develop adequate livestock to supply home food needs.

II. Develop new cash crops through encouragement of beef cattle production wherever possible, and stimulate sweet potato production, home use and marketing.

III. Secure passage of the most desirable of pure seed law bills prepared to avert a repetition of Carroll's $75,000 "O-Too-Tan bean fraud" of 1940.

IV. Increase soil fertility and land use through:

(a) Proper terracing, cover crops, strip-cropping, correct tillage, reforestation, pasture improvement and kindred practices for more yield on fewer acres.

(b) Fertilizing hillside pastures with ground limestone and phosphate and planting of feed and row crops on land best suited.

Longtime Leases.

V. Encourage and adopt long-time flexible land leases between landlord and tenant.

VI. Develop permanent pasturage by sodding and seeding, mow weed-infested grazing lands, contour hillside pastures, treat acreage with phosphate and limestone and sow grass mixtures suitable for upland and bottomland grazing.

VII. Keep a gauge on rate of efficiency in farm operations.

VIII. Step up formation of community organizations (4-H, farmers' and women's clubs in every settlement).

IX. Home improvement through landscape plan for each residence, shrubbery, rural electrification, sanitary water supplies and sanitary toilets, painting of all farm buildings, (beginning with house) and a farm publication in each home.

X. Foster good farm and home management by avoiding debts "and make a desperate effort to save earnings as far as possible."

Spivey Acquitted In Vullo Slaying

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. DUBLIN, Ga., Feb. 26.—J. H. Spivey, young Minter farmer, stood acquitted in superior court here today of a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Mike Vullo, of Macon. Vullo was shot to death at Spivey's home the night of last July 4.

The jury was out only 20 minutes.

The slaying occurred when Vullo went to the home and demanded possession, testimony revealed. Spivey contended in defense that Vullo abused him and his family.

73,860 in Georgia Rated for Draft

Only about 40 per cent of Georgia's 398,789 draft registrants will have been classified by the time the state's quota of 12,000 men for the first year of selective service is reached July 15, according to the present rate of classification.

So far 73,860 men, or 18 per cent, have received their classification. Draft boards are now deciding on the status of about 18,000 men per month, and if they continue at the present rate will have completed classification of 164,000 men by the middle of July.

Pipe Line Action Now Up to House

Any action on two companion pipe line bills pending in the upper chamber was forestalled yesterday when the senate judiciary committee No. 2 decided to wait until the house of representatives acted on the controversy.

A house committee Tuesday voted the pipe line measures favorable by a narrow margin. The same two bills were under consideration by the senate committee headed by Chairman A. L. Dorsey, of Cleveland.

Chairman Dorsey said his group would hold a public hearing on the bills "if and when" they were passed by the house and sent to the senate for concurrence.

Grand Juror Rules Shifted In Senate Bill

Hugh Couch Proposal Would Extend Power of Judges.

A bill to permit superior court judges to keep grand juries in session beyond their regular term in order to continue or complete pending investigations was introduced in the senate yesterday by Hugh Couch, of Atlanta.

The bill also authorizes judges to impanel special grand juries between regular terms to conduct special business or complete previous probes. The bill is a general one.

He also introduced local bills prohibiting the payment of anyone except regular tax collectors for filing property on the tax digest. The bill, Couch said, stops the payment of commissions to special investigators.

Public officials who collect public funds are required to deposit the money in the county bank on the day after collection, according to another Fulton bill.

Senator Homer Edenfield, of Kingdon, introduced a bill to abolish county boards of public welfare and replace them with county welfare directors, appointed by the state director with the advice of the Governor.

$14,500 Sought In 3 DeKalb Damage Suits

Family Blames Landlord for Accident Fatal to Atlanta Woman.

Three lawsuits for amounts totaling $14,500 were filed at the DeKalb courthouse yesterday.

James Shelby Jones and E. C. Jones, father and son, are demanding $5,000 from their landlord, G. R. Apfelbaum, for "failure to make proper repairs" on his house at 674 Gaskill street. The wife of the elder Jones fell because of "defective flooring" and received injuries which caused her death January 20, they said.

Miss Reba Ayers filed suit against the Georgia Power Company, seeking $5,000 for injuries to her side and back which she alleges she received when the North Decatur car on which she was riding collided with another street car on September 18.

Dr. M. L. B. Clarke is asking $1,500 and Mrs. Frances S. Clarke is asking $3,000 from Benjamin Elsas for injuries they said they incurred when a car driven by Elsas struck their car at the corner of Highland and Ponce de Leon.

Official Denies Plan To Censor Press or Radio

Expenditures Committee Approves Fund for Mellett Bureau.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(P)—A White House aide asserted today that the government is contemplating no press or radio censorship aside from the customary military censorship in event of war.

Lowell Mellett, gray-haired director of the Office of Government Reports, made the statement in urging the House Expenditures Committee to establish his bureau on a permanent basis.

After his testimony, the committee quickly approved a bill authorizing a yearly $1,500,000 appropriation for the office.

Mellett, seated with committee members at a big oval table, read an explanation of the work of his office.

Mellett said that any self-imposed censorship by publishers was a different matter.

"Their purpose being to keep the free press of America free," he said, "the publishers certainly can get together and agree not to publish things. That comes from the publishers and not from the government."

SAYS

Merry Poster Advertisements Inspire Patrons To Giggles

• • • DO YOU READ POSTERS when you dine in informal restaurants? Do you notice highway signs and menu covers? There are laughs to be enjoyed from amusing reading matter, and Sally passes the following on in hopes of inspiring a giggle or so:

Overhanging the doorway of an automobile service station hangs a sign reading, "Mom's out, but we got 'Pop' on ice!"

A restaurant noted for its palate-teasing cuisine features a patriotic thought in its most conspicuous poster. It reads: "If you don't like our country, there are boats leaving for Europe every day!" Beneath the caption are listed the boat schedules, proving the sincerity of the sentiment expressed.

Sally noticed on a laundry an advertisement reading, "Shirts that laugh at the laundry." Beneath the boast a humorist had scrawled with chalk, "Yes, and they return home with their sides split!" "If you can't stop, smile as you go by" is the greeting given motorists as they pass a south Georgia service station.

A popular restaurant challenges its patrons with the following: "If you're so smart, why ain't you rich?" The inscription appearing above a drawing of a ragged hitchhiker with a sarcastic countenance.

Of course you are familiar with the quotation, "We ain't mad with nobody," which is the favorite of countless dealers, and which has become a byword of many who indulge in an occasional slang comment.

Have you seen any funnier ones?

• • • FOR THE PAST few days, Mrs. George Denman has been in a whirl of excitement. But who wouldn't be if she received word that 30 visitors would be her guests for the weekend?

It happened like this: Mrs. Denman's two grandsons, Tom and Denman Hammond, are away at college and the coming weekend will find them in the city attending the conference of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity, of which they are valued members. Tom, you know, is a member of the chapter at the University of Mississippi, and Denman attends the University of North Carolina.

In making plans for the coming weekend, the two boys invited a group of their fraternity brothers to be their guests for the conference. The result was that Mrs. Denman received letters from her grandsons announcing that they would arrive with their fraternity brothers, numbering 30!

So, for the past few days, Mrs. Denman has been frantically trying to arrange accommodations for her guests with her neighbors and friends, inasmuch as her home is not quite large enough to house them all.

• • • CELEBRATING HER nineteenth birthday in Atlanta along with George Washington's, was Mary Stevenson, titian-haired and brown-eyed freshman at the University of Georgia at Athens, who hails from Brunswick. Mary visited her roommate, Marion Rubinstein, whose parents reside at 198 Ponce de Leon avenue, and they were entertained at a party at the reserve officers' military ball at the Biltmore hotel, at which Mary's father, Major D. H. Rubinstein, who is stationed at Fort McPherson, and Mrs. Rubinstein were hosts.

Mary, who is outstanding in sports activities, holding the Georgia state high school tennis championship for girls in singles and doubles, which she won in Athens last May as a representative of Glynn Academy in Brunswick, is fast gaining laurels in golf. She has played in an exhibition golf match with Marion Miley, famous southern woman golfer of Lexington, Ky., at the Brunswick Country Club.

At one minute, after 12 o'clock the orchestra played the "Happy Birthday" melody to Mary, and called her to the orchestra booth to present her a bouquet of red carnations for her birthday anniversary.

Prior to the dance, Mary and Marion and the latter's other weekend guests, Anne Bullard and Jean Bolton, freshmen at the University, were entertained at the officers' cocktail party at the Officers' Club at Fort McPherson. Mrs. Rubinstein honored Mary at a birthday luncheon Saturday at her apartment, and on Saturday evening the girls were entertained by their dates at several Atlanta night centers.

• • • GLIMPSED AT the Radium Gap Guild's Mardi Gras ball Tuesday evening: Jane Lawless looking exotic in an off-the-shoulder rumba dress of bright red taffeta. . . Mrs. Sam Candler winning the prize for the most beautiful ladies' costume, wearing a robe and headress imported from the Far East. . . Ruthanna Butters dressed as a can-can dancer, her colorful costume having been completed by black lace mitts, black lace stockings and red satin slippers. . . Jim Dixon inspiring hilarity by his red wig, tremendous rubber ears and rubber bare feet, the ridiculousness of his attire having been further accentuated by the blackening out of several of his front teeth! . . . His date, Florrie Sisson, looking chic in Scotch plaid. . . Bob McKnight winning a radio for his Indian prince costume. . . Joel Reeves being presented a case of champagne which he won as a door prize. . . Connie Dinkler, who reigned as Queen of the Mardi Gras, singing "There's Going To Be Some Changes Made" with the orchestra at the close of the carnival. . . Mrs. Eugene Harrington wearing black velvet with a glamorous veil. . . Mrs. Julian Thomas drinking New Orleans coffee. . . Mrs. Robert Schwab Jr. looking lovely in a white lace Spanish costume with a black lace mantilla. . . Dave Aldredge clothed in a devil's costume of brilliant red completed by a skull cap bearing horns. . . The Corrigan brothers, Louis and Joe, winning prizes for their original costumes.

The judges, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Haverly, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Arkwright Jr. and Dr. and Mrs. Green Warren, conferring as to their choice for the most beautiful lady's costume. . . Strother Fleming Jr. winning a free trip to Miami.

Crawford Asks Mother's Permission To Be Mean To Her Child in Picture

By Sheila Graham.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 26.—Alice, because she is currently draping the arm of Writer John McClain. . . . Charles Chaplin was bemoaning the other evening that he was now more than 50 and would never see his youth again, etc., etc., and Somerset Maugham did not comfort him by telling him "Ah, well, age is something that comes to us all—it's lucky." . . . Marlene Dietrich and George Raft will have a terrific publicity romance to help their forthcoming picture, "Hard to Get."

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

When Sarah Bernhardt died at Rector's, what did she eat over? Not the beruffled dishes for which our imported chefs were imported. But griddle cakes and sausages—"so teepical Ameri-aine"! Because of the sweet, juicy pork used and the special herb seasoning, Rector's sausages were the aristocrats of the work world. Today a visiting celebrity could get as big a taste thrill from Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links. For these sausages are made of choice pork, expertly seasoned.

FIRESIDE MEAL

The idea is to desert your regular dining place for the most comfortable spot in your house. It may be beside the fireplace or in a sunny alcove. Spread table or tables informally there and serve:

- *Hot Spiced Fruit Cup
- *Spinach Ring with Hominy and Fried Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausages
- Water-cress and Grapefruit Salad with Wilson's Savory Mayonnaise
- *Whipped Cream Angel Food Cake

To make fruit cup, simmer 1 dozen cloves, 2 sticks cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg in qt. canned fruit juice for five minutes. Strain and serve piping hot.

SPINACH RING

To 4 cups finely chopped spinach add 1/2 cup Clear Brook Butter, and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Press into buttered ring mold. Keep hot. Unmold onto hot platter. Fill center of this Spinach Ring with hot seasoned hominy. On top of the hominy arrange 1 dozen fried Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links.

WHIPPED CREAM ANGEL FOOD CAKE

Into 1 cup of cream, stiffly whipped, fold carefully the beaten whites of 3 Clear Brook Eggs. Add 1/2 cup water and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Then add 2 cups of flour which have been sifted three times with 1 1/2 cups sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Bake in layers at 350° F. for about 30 minutes. Use lemon filling and icing.

HAM HIT OF THE WEEK

Tucked warmly away in the memory of lots of us is the rich smoke flavor that a ham had when it was home-cured in the old smokehouse. Believe it or not, the flavor of Wilson's Certified Tender Extra Mild Smoked Ham is even more delicious and the ham is more tender, juicier and milder. Fry several slices for dinner tonight.

I'll be back come next March (next week).—G. R.

Beauty, head to toe! Today milady's beauty routine includes painting the toenails as well as the fingernails. Carole Lombard, star of RKO Radio's "Mr. & Mrs. Smith," reveals a secret that would be a good tip for us all to follow. Wind a hankie or tissue in and out of the toes when polishing them, and leave until polish dries. This keeps it smooth, even and prevents smearing and also is a help when applying polish.

MY DAY: Present Demand For Nurses

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday.—We had rather an interesting press conference yesterday morning, and I learned a great deal about the present need for nurses in both the Army and Navy. The American Red Cross registers these nurses and tries to keep an up-to-date list, but, of course, the average nurse thinks of being called into the services only in case of war.

Here we are facing a situation where we are not at war and yet where we have a dislocation of population. Young men who would ordinarily be taken care of in their homes are suddenly placed in a camp for training. The Army, particularly, needs a great many more nurses than they have had in the regular service. By the first of June, in fact, they want several thousand to report for duty. I believe when the facts are brought to their attention, many young nurses will answer this call.

How quickly things change! A few years ago, I received many letters from nurses who could not find work. When I went to the graduation exercises in the Harlem hospital school for nurses this winter, I was told there are not enough nurses in training to meet the needs of the New York City institutions alone. Of course, the standards have been raised. They need a better educational background and the training is stricter. It seems to me to be good training for a girl, whether she is going to earn her own living or is going to marry and live in a community. It will help her as a wife, mother and neighbor. If she takes up nursing as a profession, it offers her great satisfaction in service, as well as a fairly secure livelihood.

Miss Mary Beard, national director of Red Cross nursing service; Major Julia O. Plikke, superintendent of U. S. Army Nurse Corps, and Miss Sue S. Dausser, superintendent of U. S. Navy Nurse Corps, spoke to members of my press conference yesterday, so I am sure that the conditions under which nurses enter the service are well understood throughout the country.

My afternoon yesterday was spent seeing people who were interested in special fields. In the evening, Mr. Frederick M. Davenport brought his group, the National Institute of Public Affairs, to spend the evening. The young people asked many searching questions. They are an intelligent group of young people and I have always enjoyed meeting them every year.

They spend a year here in the government service and know many of the difficulties and complexities of government machinery. Last night I was interested to hear that well over two-thirds of them are either in the federal service or in state government service and are seriously undertaking these careers as a life work. It speaks well for the future of democracy and I wish every success to them.

Woman's Quiz

Q. How are cracklings prepared for food?

A. Cook the rinds in a large kettle over a medium fire. The kettle should be covered until the fat has cooked out. Then uncover while the rinds brown. Remove from the kettle and drain.

Q. Should I continue to use "junior" on my cards after my father's death? My mother is still living, and of course, she bears the same name as my wife.

A. This is somewhat a matter of personal taste but strict etiquette requires the dropping of the suffix "junior" and your mother becomes either Mrs. John Smith, senior, or, preferably, simply Mrs. Smith.

Q. Are twins and triplets usually smaller at birth than single children?

A. Although they are often less fully developed at birth, twins and triplets measured at six years of age do not usually show any appreciable retardation of growth.

Q. Please give a formula to prevent runs in silk stockings.

A. The basic ingredient is usually aluminum sulfate. One formula is as follows: 2 teaspoonfuls aluminum sulfate; 1-2 pint of water. This is enough for two stockings. Wash them in tepid water with good soap and rinse well. Then immerse for 30 minutes in the aluminum sulfate solution and dry at room temperature. Finally wash and rinse again as before and dry.

Q. How long will coconut keep in the shell?

A. It should keep for two or three months if stored in a cool place.

Tact—saying and doing the right thing—is voted the most important attribute of charm, so think before you speak or act.

New Curtains Are a Spring Tonic

Light and airy as a breath of spring these ruffled organdy curtains with their crisp swag and colorful sprays of flowers

And for anyone who can sew at all they're easy as pie to make. The curtains are in white with sprays of artificial field flowers in red, yellow and blue at corners of swag. But yellow organdy with daisies would be as lovely.

Measuring for the swag, take the length of your valance board plus a generous allowance for shaping ends and turning in. Provide fullness for draping by cutting fabric twice as deep as the finished swag will be.

You shape the ends by cutting them on a slant. The lower edge you cut in a broad shallow scallop.

Now sew ruffle to lower edge and arrange swag in graceful folds. Stitch securely with needle and thread, sew tape along top of swag and tack tape to valance board.

Debonair Lift to Winter Outfits

It's a quickened '41—a spruce '41 and chic, spirited women are in the swing. Never have mid-season accessories given such a debonair lift to winter outfits. Headgear goes jaunty with a patriotic flourish, gay ninety motifs, a rolled brim silhouette (new as combinations of green, amber, the year) and with ingenious honey beige, loamy brown and Caribbean blue; and then there's the mad gypsy palette. Spring can't be denied.

Flag Conscious Headgear. Winter into spring hats are flag conscious. They are bracers for your tired furs now—necessities for the trim spring suits to come.

A tailored turban of slyly glinting blue straw, cloth buttons under your back hair, and is topped with a red suede buckle with gold-starred corners. For the bare browed, there's an "aviation cap" in navy cashmere with gold braid and a red crocheted crown. Solid navy isn't to be found. You'll find sport contrast in border, crown, veil, or furbelow—even if it's a natural as the fuzzy dandelions perched on the crown of an undressed, "blowaway" homburg.

The Gay Nineties Bonnet. There's a "bicycle built for two" sauciness about many of the new sailors. Gibson straight and Gibson flat, they're a boon to a pompadour and a double chee kitem for movie trotters. These Victorian motifs have a beguiling femininity. Minute ostrich tips peep gaily from beneath a sailor brim. Veils are draped over flowered decor or a molded crown. Intriguingly designed, they're apt to include velvet dots, flowers, or even a butterfly. And shaped under your chin they are an attractive bonnet anchor. Slim velvet ribbons tie under your chin to secure a pert sailor or poke bonnet. And hat pins are on a spree. They appear in gold or silver filigree, handpainted, in hat fabrics, and masquerade as birds or butterflies.

Brady's $1,000 Bet Still Stands

By Dr. William Brady.

A reader flabbergasts me by sending a clipping of an item telling of the 43d injury of an ice skater and remarking that the same performer has had 11 attacks of blood poisoning from the heavy film of paint sprinkled with silvered glass and applied directly to his body for each performance. The reader assumes this will prove that something can be absorbed through the unbroken skin. He adds that perhaps some day I may be able to find a person weak-minded enough to be a party to self-murder by accepting my wager of $1,000 that poison applied to my own skin will not be absorbed.

Well, if that is a deterrent suppose we stipulate that only mild poison or medicine or chemical be used in the test, anything that is not likely to cause death. If I were contemplating suicide I know many less troublesome ways than that. I'll be satisfied, and I'll make due public apology for my false teaching, if even a little atropine or belladonna is used, just enough to produce positive effects, but not enough to cause serious poisoning. I mention belladonna because, according to a reader, that was the drug some medical friends of his said they'd use to rub on my back and prove the error of my teaching by making me "sick and dizzy"—but I never could persuade the correspondent to divulge the identity of the eminent medical authorities, nor could I get any further or closer contact with them. I came away with my hide still impervious, and I still offer to make the wager and carry it out if any responsible person or group has the courage to go through with it. Though conditions are, first, that I shall have control of the air I breathe while the test is being made; the second, that both sides shall agree to abide by the result of the test forever after—that is, if I finish the test unscathed the old-timers will acknowledge they were wrong and I was right. On the other hand, if I finish the test evidently under the effects of the drug or poison applied to my skin, then I will acknowledge that I was wrong and thereafter I'll never again dare to say the unbroken skin cannot absorb anything.

Vandy and L. S. U. To Play First Game Today in S. E. C. Tourney

BY JACK TROY

Should Have Asked The Atlanta Crackers could have told the Italians a thing or two about the Greeks, if Il Duce's disciples had been disposed to ask.

The thought occurred when I saw a grinning picture of Charley George in the Chicago Tribune. George has gone to training camp with the Cubs.

If any one guy was responsible for Nashville's success, outside of Manager Larry Gilbert, it was Charley, the Greek. His hustle and fight was a definite inspiration for the champions. And his handling of pitchers was tops.

Clubs wrangled with and threatened dire things against the Greek around the league, but he came off none the worse for wear and was rewarded with another chance in the big leagues.

The inside story is that the Greek always has been good enough to play big league ball but never has run across a manager who could handle him. Larry Gilbert is the lone exception. George would have been a big league star under Gilbert, it's agreed.

He is a clean liver, the Greek is. He is simply hard to handle. He is temperamental and inclined to fly off the handle on the ball field.

It is to be hoped that Jimmy Wilson, a hero of the last World Series with Cincinnati, will prove the man to handle George—lest he find his way back into the Southern League with Nashville.

The Vols can't be as strong with George gone.

The Crackers also recall another Greek who did them no good at all. This boy was Charley Letchas. On the strength of his ability to make double plays, Chattanooga won a pennant in a four-cornered fight which involved Atlanta.

Il Duce should have asked the Crackers. They'd have told him a thing or three about those Greeks.

Tablets No Good Earl Mann, shoving off for St. Augustine, new training camp of the Crackers, took note of the Birmingham announcement of Paul Florence that players will be fed vitamin B-1 tablets.

"What the Barons should be concerned about," cracked Mann, "is A-1 ball players, not B-1 tablets. Vitamins can't help the Barons."

One can detect the earmarks of a feud between the Barons' Florence, former Georgetown football star, and the Crackers' Mann, who pitched for dear old Oglethorpe. Zipp Newman (Birmingham News) has been fanning the flames. He's been using a new hat which Florence has bet Mann on the belief that the Barons will finish ahead of the Crackers.

Mann, who'll visit Miami before pitching camp at St. Augustine with the Crackers, declared the only place the Barons will finish ahead of the Crackers in the alphabet.

Destiny A bunch of the fellows got together and wondered how it would be possible to have a clam bake or oyster roast. They thought of John J. (Mike) O'Leary, who runs the St. Charles in New Orleans.

A wire to Mike brought quick results in the form of bushels of oysters. Mike said they were sent from the seafood firm of Michel, Martina & Martina, Inc. Martina? Yeh, Joe Martina.

It's a funny thing, Joe bought his release from the New Orleans club for a barrel of oysters. And now he is one of the leading seafood dealers in New Orleans.

He's Different Found: A baseball player who's retired from the game who doesn't have a nostalgic, or any other kind, of yearning to hop back into harness with the approach of spring.

To the contrary, Nolen Richardson, who has a year-round job at a prominent department store, has been retired only since last season, but when Martin Marion was asking him if he didn't feel a yen for a

Celtics Trip Elks In Decatur, 56-53

The famed New York Celtics took a 56 to 53 fall out of the Decatur Elks in Decatur last night before a packed house at the Decatur auditorium.

The Celtics kept a 20 to 25 point lead until the last ten minutes of play, when Davey Banks, Celtic clown prince, decided to help the home team out. He shot a couple of baskets for the Elks himself, and gave a great exhibition of pass work for the home club.

The show was the best yet put on by the Celtics in these parts. With Banks and his dance step dribble leading the way the New Yorkers completely mystified their foe and Decatur fans. The Celtics praised the Elks as one of the cleanest teams they have ever encountered.

Mulcahy Will Go To Army March 8

NEWTON, Mass., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Hugh Noyes Mulcahy, strapping Philadelphia National league baseball club pitcher, received word today that he would be inducted into the Army for a year's service on March 8, after his plea for occupational deferment failed.

The 190-pound hurler, who stands six feet two, is 27, and unmarried, had appealed to the district appeal board for deferment, because he was employed in a necessary occupation. Mulcahy won 13 and lost 22 games last year.

Alabama Faculty Group Blasts Huie's 'Hooey' in Recent Story

Authorities Regret 'Huie Could Have Gotten His Own Consent' To Write Such 'Absurd Article.'

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Feb. 26.—(UP)—The University of Alabama today gave "unequivocal denial to the integrity" of an article on the school's treatment of football players, written by William Bradford Huie and published recently in a nationally circulated magazine (Collier's).

"The university authorities . . . regret that Mr. Huie could have gotten his own consent to write an article weighted with assertions that are, and must have been known by him to be, without foundation in fact," Dr. Richard C. Foster, president of the university, said.

"It is even more regrettable that in order to give some semblance of authenticity to his statements he should have ascribed to himself a role which existed only in his own imagination."

Naps Are Victors Over Sacred Heart

The Naps basketball team defeated Sacred Heart, 17 to 9, Wednesday afternoon on the Y. W. C. A. court.

The score at the half was: Naps 12, Sacred Heart 1.

In a preliminary game to the main attraction, the Sacred Heart subs won over the Naps bee team, 11 to 9. The Naps' next game will be played with the strong Athens sextette at Athens on Friday night.

CONSTITUTION HITS TOP. The "C" basketball league ended its last half schedule Wednesday night and three teams were tied for last half honors.

Fulton National Bank upset the Fire Chiefs, 27 to 24, and this threw these two teams and The Atlanta Constitution into a three-way tie for last half leadership. These teams will enter a playoff, probably next week, to decide the championship.

The Constitution trounced the Commercial High freshmen, 50 to 10, and Ahepa took a forfeit from the Sons of the Ahepa, who were unable to play due to the forfeit and Ahepa forfeit to 24.

Tech, Alabama Battle at 7:30 In First Round

Jackets Underdogs; Tennessee Plays Miss. State; Bulldogs Idle.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY, Assistant Sports Editor. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 26.—From all over Dixieland, Southeastern Conference basketball clubs began arriving tonight for the opening blast in the eighth annual tournament which starts here tomorrow afternoon at the Jefferson county armory.

Vanderbilt and L. S. U. will start the ball rolling in the "sudden-death" battle, the winner of which is acclaimed by one and all the conference champions of the year, regardless of pretourney standings. The Commodores and Tigers, both unseeded, take the floor at 2 o'clock, to be followed by second-ranked Tennessee and Mississippi State at 3:30.

Georgia Tech's erratic sophomores will try to upset the dope in the third battle against fourth-seeded Alabama at 7:30 tonight, while top-ranked Kentucky, winner of four of the seven previous tournaments, meets lowly Mississippi in the closing game of the first day at 9:30 o'clock.

Second-round games will be played Friday, with semi-finals and finals scheduled Saturday. Georgia, Florida, third-seeded; Auburn and Tulane drew first-round byes and will wait a day before making their debut in the meet.

Talk among coaches, officials and writers around hotel lobbies tonight established Kentucky again odds-on favorites for the crown. The Wildcats are defending champions, having beaten Georgia in the finals last year at Knoxville, and have won four of the seven meets. Tennessee has taken two, while Georgia Tech captured the other.

Tennessee was regarded as a likely opponent for the Wildcats in the finals, but there was plenty of talk favoring Florida to upset Tennessee in the semi-finals. Those riding the 'Gator bandwagon pointed out that the Vols must beat Mississippi State and Georgia before meeting Florida, who only has to whip the winner of L. S. U.-Vandy before reaching the semi-finals.

Believing State and Georgia will take a lot out of the Vols, the observers say Florida will be ready to shoot the works at John Mauer's quintet.

Tech's Yellow Jackets, cheered by their last two games against Georgia and Notre Dame, left Atlanta last night and will arrive here early this morning. Coach Roy Mundorff has little hopes of beating Alabama, a strong defensive team, but the players figure they have all to gain and nothing to lose and will shoot the works.

The L. S. U.-Vanderbilt game has all the earmarks of being the closest of the first round. Tennessee should take Mississippi State handily and Kentucky will probably swamp Ol' Miss, who ended up at the bottom of the conference heap during regular season games.

It's Louisville's first time as host to the tournament and big things are planned. Good crowds are forecast by a heavy advance sale of tickets. In fact, the semi-finals and finals are already near sell-outs. The armory can seat about 4,500 people.

Decatur Is Winner In Fifth District

LITHONIA, Ga., Feb. 26.—Sextets from Decatur, Stone Mountain and Southwest DeKalb were tonight's winners in the Fifth District girls' tournament here. Decatur drubbed Covington, 35-19; Stone Mountain shaded Fulton High, 25-21, and the DeKalbs thumped Conyers, 30 to 21.

Stephenson and Huey tallied 16 and 14 points, respectively, to pace the Decatur win. A. Brownlee's 16 points was tops for the Stone Mountain lassies, while Yarbrough basketed 12 for the losing Fulton.

Wilson looped in 14 for Southwest DeKalb, while Ellis was keeping Conyers in the ball game with 13. J. Spratney dumped in 10 for the DeKalbs also.

A card of four games is billed for tonight, beginning with the feature game between the Avondale defending champions and the second Druid Hills sextet at 6:30.

TRAVIS ONLY HOLDOUT.

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 26.—President Clark Griffith of the Senators, announced today that catcher Rick Ferrell had signed his contract for the season. Ferrell's signing leaves Shortstop Cecil Travis as the Senators' last holdout. Travis is expected to come to terms shortly.

Manager Bucky Harris ordered the first batting practice today, but training activities will not get into full swing until the infielders and outfielders report this weekend.

LOMBARDI MISSING.

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 26.—First Baseman Frank McCormick, the Cincinnati Reds' most valuable player in the National League last year, became the first Red to open practice this year today. All Cincinnati pitchers were in camp and only Holdout Catcher Ernie Lombardi was missing from drills.

CUBS OPEN CAMP.

AVAILON, Cal., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Pitcher Schoolboy Rowe arrived at the Detroit Tigers' training camp here today, four days early, and announced he was feeling "in the pink" after a winter of hunting and tramping through the Arkansas hills.

Other arrivals today among the first contingent of Tigers who are to start spring training Sunday were Pitcher Paul (Dizzy) Trout and Coach Bing Miller.

Kentucky Short 3-to-5 Favorite To Win S. E. C. Tournament

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 26.—The betting fraternity here established Kentucky's defending champions as favorites on the eve of the eighth annual Southeastern Conference basketball tournament which starts tomorrow.

Aldolph Rupp's Wildcats were made 3-to-5 favorites—less than even money. In other words, you'll have to risk five bucks to win three if you want to wager on Kentucky.

Tennessee, second-seeded in the meet, was priced at 3 to 1. Georgia, Florida, third-seeded, and Alabama, fourth-ranked, were all made 10 to 1. Tulane, which drew a first-round bye, was quoted at 15 to 1.

Four teams, Georgia Tech, L. S. U., Vanderbilt and Auburn, will bring you 25 to 1 if one of them wins. Mississippi State was priced at 30 to 1 because to win the meet the Maroons will have to beat Tennessee, Georgia and probably Florida and Kentucky in three days.

A dollar on Ole Miss will bring you 75 if, of course, the Johnny Rebs win.

Picard Is Leader In Open Tourney

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Henry Picard, of Hershey, Pa., clipped five strokes off par for a 66 today to take a first-round lead in the $5,000 St. Petersburg Open golf tournament.

A stroke off the pace with 67 were Ralph Guldahl, of Chicago; Chick Harbert, of Battle Creek, Mich.; Sam Sneed, of Hot Springs, Ark., and Ben Hogan, also of Hershey.

Mrs. Bailey Wins Metro Golf Meet

Mrs. M. K. Bailey registered a 37 on her best nine yesterday to win the Metropolitan Women's Golfers tournament at Piedmont Park. She also had the best score of the day, a 92.

Special prizes went to Mrs. W. S. Eakin and Mrs. J. C. Fleming. Mrs. B. B. Drummond and Mrs. A. C. Baird took attendance prizes.

Decatur Is Host to N. G. I. C. Cage Tournament Starting Today

Canton To Play Marist Cagers In First Clash

Favored Athens Five, Defending Champs, Draw 1st Round Bye.

By CHARLIE ROBERTS.
Decatur wholeheartedly takes on the duties of holding open house for the N. G. I. C. members as they begin their annual conference basketball tournament in the new Decatur gym this afternoon and tonight.

While Athens High, which drew a first-round bye along with Druid Hills, will wait until tomorrow to open defense of their conference crown, 12 other members will go at it hammer and tongs in six games that give promise of plenty of fireworks.

In the very first clash of the day at 3:30 o'clock the rabid will have the opportunity of glimpsing one of the best teams in the state. The Canton Greenies, winner of the ninth district championship for 13 straight years and runner-up to Boys' High in the Big Seven League, will make their debut into N. G. I. C. tourney competition against Marist. The Greenies, tourney co-favorites with Athens, must take on the Athenians tomorrow if they manage to take the Marist hurdle in the stride.

West Fulton, featuring Ray Dickey, one of the best all-round athletes in Atlanta, will run headlong into Fulton High in the other afternoon joust at 4:30 o'clock. The Red Birds boast a topnotcher in Henry Kalb, high-scoring forward.

LaGrange High and Hapeville will open nocturnal tiffing at 6:30 o'clock. Richardson and a recently rampant Russell Wildcat will tangle at 7:30 o'clock, an hour before Smoky Joe Martin's Decatur host team begins matching field goals and foul shots with Newnan High. North Fulton, runner-up to Athens last year, will face their first tourney test against Newnan High in the night's finale at 9:30 o'clock.

The top bracket toughies appear to be Canton and Athens. In the lower bracket, the fight to reach the final round likely will be between Decatur, North Fulton and West Fulton, though some of the out-of-towners likely will prove stumbling blocks as they always do.

N. G. I. C. TOURNAMENT HOST—Smoky Joe Martin and his hustling Decatur basketball team, runners-up to Clarkston's State B Champs, in the Fifth District meet recently, will be the host team in the N. G. I. C. cage tournament which gets under way this afternoon in the

Women Will Play Druid Hills Links

Druid Hills Women's Golf Association will hold a one-day meet Friday. It will be visitors' day and members are urged to bring guests.

Sharp SHOOTIN'

WANDERING AROUND IN GOLF CIRCLES

Jack Hackett was telling one for the books at Albany. . . . Christine Shealey had been taking lessons and not playing. . . . But the other day she slipped out on the Radium Springs course. . . . At the par-5 eighth hole, she sank her third drive from a wooden peg for an eagle. . . . It was her second time on a course. . . . The tournament pros are sun-squint-conscious now. . . . Most of them had their eyes examined by a member of the New Orleans tournament committee and came up with glasses. . . . Gene Sarazen was amazed at their dignity when he joined them at Thomasville.

Ran into Lucian Sykes at Thomasville and got to thank him personally for those head-size oranges he sent for Christmas. . . . Ran into a lot of other folks, too, and the entertainment was something — at the Heeth Varnedoes, the Doe Rackleys, the dance, the Flowers and every place. . . . I've used up my supply of superlatives on south Georgia friendliness and hospitality. . . . But there's no doubt about how I feel about those folks. . . . The idea of combining the Thomasville tourney with one at Tallahassee, Fla., is a bloomer from the practical standpoint. . . . Club President Frank Eidson isn't in favor of it. . . . And after the finest and biggest meet in Thomasville history, why would any one be?

When Horace Caldwell gets under way, he really goes to town. . . . Julian Ragland, Captain McVea and I played in a foursome with the Albany and Valdosta hotel man at Radium Springs Monday. . . . A banquet under the personal direction of Caldwell followed. . . . The steaks set a record. It was the first time this club could not eat everything placed in front of him. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Ragland, Captain H. C. Gee, Duck White, Jack Hackett and the host also were thrown for losses in the eating department. . . . It was a lot of fun asking for a golf game and coming up with the works.

The Radium Springs course was a desolate place the first of the year. . . . The layout had been burned off, and you couldn't recognize the greens. . . . Now the greens have a fine stand of grass, and they should be in good shape soon. . . . The fairways are not as well along, but the whole course will be ready for the tournament which is planned in August. . . . Maje Arneson, pro, and Roy Land are doing a fine job getting the course ready after it had been closed for almost a year.

Sarazen's idea about having driving ranges at the Army camps is an excellent one. . . . So is Fred Corcoran's. . . . The P. G. A. tournament director would let all soldiers in uniform attend tournaments without charge. . . . Those plans will keep the soldiers' interest in golf alive, and develop others into players and fans.

ALL IN THE GAME

uniform, the answer was a cheerful no. "Are you sure?" Marion persisted. "Yep, and I'll bet you won't be so anxious to rush off to a camp after you've been in the game as long as I was (16 years) and if you have a family," Richardson said. "Maybe you're right," said young Martin Marion, who was restless and anxious to be off to the Cards' camp at St. Pete in spite of salary differences with Redbird chiefs; "maybe you're right. For a minute I thought you were admitting you're growing old."

Nolen has turned his back on the game as a player and doesn't feel badly about it. He could play a few more years of great ball. But he doesn't feel it would be fair to him or his family. He's probably right.

Only one thing kept Nolen Richardson out of the big show. He just couldn't hit enough. I've talked with a dozen big leaguers who said he could field with any shortstop in the business.

In fact, when he teamed with Joe Gordon at Newark, the Bears set up a double-play record that is expected to last for a while in the International League. I forget just how many twin killings they achieved, but it was close to 200.

Nolen enjoys seeing his old mates and opponents as they pass through on their way to camp, but he really has no desire to join them.

He's happy to stay put for a change.

Bill on Racing Is Turned Down By Committee

Horse and dog racing, with parimutuel gambling, failed to receive committee approval after a public hearing provoked ministerial protests yesterday.

"We've got enough devilment in Georgia already without bringing in . . . this incubator of crime," declared Dr. Louie D. Newton, representing the Atlanta Christian Council.

He read telegrams from several Georgians, including Mayor Alexander Orr, reporting their experience with racing showed "it breaks down the moral fiber of your citizens."

The first basemen said his dispute with the Cardinals management was not "bitter." He believed he deserved more money than he received in 1940. He had returned two contracts specifying the same salary paid him last season.

Mize Awaiting Boost in Salary

DELAND, Fla., Feb. 26.—(UP)—Johnny Mize, first baseman holding out for more money for the 1941 season, tonight was waiting for another salary offer from Branch Rickey, of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The first basemen said his dispute with the Cardinals management was not "bitter." He believed he deserved more money than he received in 1940. He had returned two contracts specifying the same salary paid him last season.

Celtics' Foe Here March 6 Beat All Leading Teams This Year

No wonder the New York Celtics did everything but leave the state when mention was made of their playing Kautsky's All-Americans in Atlanta. The game is now definitely set for Thursday night, March 6, but a look at Kautsky's record tells the story well enough concerning why the Celtics wanted to leave well enough alone.

The National leaguers from Indianapolis have beaten all the leading professional teams in the country this year, including the Celtics, the New York Renaissance, Oshkosh, Wis., Harlem Globe Trotters and Akron Firestones, who won the National league crown last year.

Kautsky's team, composed of Mark Ertel, captain of last year's Notre Dame five and a galaxy of former all-Americans from Purdue, Indiana and other Big Ten schools, has won and lost in two games with the Celtics. The game here will decide this important series. The winner will receive $1,200 and the loser $800.

Atlanta fans have waited for years to see the Celtics under fire, to watch them go all out in an effort to beat a team just as good as they. This will be Georgia's first professional game and from all indications, fans from all over the state will pile in here to watch the game at Warren Sports Arena.

Regular National league prices of 75c, $1.10 and $1.65 will be in effect. Tickets go on sale this morning at Adam Hat Store, Reeder & McGaughey Sporting Goods, and Walthour & Hood.

Good used bikes are in demand. They put cash in your hand when offered through the Want Ads of The Constitution.

Fleming Stone Arrives in Time for Dinner; He Seems Anxious To Begin the Search

SYNOPSIS. Jean Selden, in love with Brandon Sayre, an explorer, is dazed by Vivian Forrest's wealth and ardent love-making, and married him. Vivian is imperious, makes no secret of his various love affairs and after two years Jean despises him but must consider her baby Flormel. Sayre is a member of a house party at palatial Forrest Fell on Long Island and Jean knows her love for him is not dead. Other guests are Peter Haskell, Ann Fraser and Suzy Kirk. They, as well as Vivian's half-brother, Austin, are practicing for a fencing tournament. Then Vivian brings as a guest Esmeralda Fance, a pretty movie actress, ordering that Flormel's choice nursery room be turned over to her. Later he tells Jean that Esme is to be a permanent member of the household. He insists upon a daily 15-minute fencing practice with Jean, who also is an expert. As she leaves one night after fencing, his guests notice that Vivian totters, then he falls dead. Medical Examiner Peterson, District Attorney Mitchell and Police Inspector Eastman question Jean closely. There is a small foul wound on Vivian's neck, but indications are that morphine caused death. A lawyer named Campbell has a letter Vivian left with him stating that he hid his last will in his study, but a long search is fruitless. Esme says she has a promissory note for a million dollars, signed by Vivian, but when she opens a safe deposit box there is only a piece of blank paper. Esme goes to Jean, declares there is no will—it's a joke, too—and says she has a plan by which she and Jean can share the Forrest millions. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

INSTALLMENT XXVI. "You know a lot more about Vivian's women than I thought you did, Jean. He must have loved you a life! I am glad for your sake he is gone. Now, look here. Let's discard all wills, and I will get an order declaring that Vivian died in estate. I can do it!" "By some shady work of an unscrupulous lawyer? No, and in any case, we can't do anything of that sort, unless Mr. Stone agrees. You can ask him when he comes." "I wish you hadn't dragged him into it! His fees and the inheritance taxes will wipe out the Forrest estate. By the way, how long is Sayre staying here?" "How can I tell? He can't go away until the police say so. Nor Esme." "Esme will stay as long as I want her to." "So? Well, I know Suzy and Peter will be glad to get away. Why are the police keeping them here?" "Material witnesses, they call them. I hope Mr. Stone can help us get rid of the police."

"Not likely. They will work together." "Well, I'm certainly annoyed at his coming." "Too bad, Austin, but we can't stop him now." "You had no right to engage him—"

Jean was about to say that she was still mistress of her own home, but decided to mark time, at least until Stone's arrival. "I think you'll like him," she said gently. "He will have our interests at heart."

"Maybe and maybe not," Austin said, sulkily, as he walked away. But once outside the room, he turned and came back. "Something I forgot," he said. "Jean, I wish you'd make your will, right now. And I'll make mine. We can remember each other—and there's no telling what may happen."

"Oh, I think we'll live till tomorrow; I've no time just now." "You must make time. It's a duty, Jean, a duty to yourself and to your child." Jean gave a little laugh. "Never mind about baby; she isn't of age yet. I'll see to her interests." "But I tell you it's your duty. Come on, let's do it now." "Austin, stop your nonsense! I will make a will when I see fit. Get along with you!" she smiled. "Go and find Esme and tell her to dress up pretty for Mr. Stone. I am told he is not addicted to ladies' society, but Esme has wonderful charms."

"You can't fool me, my lady—I know what you mean. But just as long as Brandon Sayre stays here, I will have Esme stay."

"Oh, very well," said Jean, smiling, and repressing her impulse to say, "Whose house is this, anyway?"

The cocktail hour found them all awaiting the advent of the great detective, and when Fleming Stone arrived he noted the manner of greeting accorded by each one.

Jean played hostess with simplicity and charm, but even while Stone admired her beauty and her grace, he saw clearly the quickened breathing and the least quiver of a lip that told him of her nervous tension.

Austin was a trifle overcordial. Suzy was visibly excited and she murmured, "I'm a detective, too, as she squeezed the inquisitorial hand."

Esme was on her best behavior. Quiet mannered and charming, yet a bit rough of glance, she demurely welcomed Stone with some bromide phrase.

Sayre and Haskell were friendly but conventional, and then, introductions over, they turned to the cocktails.

Stone took his cue. He saw at once there was to be no trace of solemnity or reference to the tragedy that had brought them together.

He had not expected there would be, but the atmosphere was a bit gay as he had anticipated.

During a momentary lull, Suzy, who sat gravely staring at him, said, "Do you think you can find the will, Mr. Stone?"

"Let us hope so," he said, "but I've no idea as yet how thoroughly the study has been searched."

"It's a thorough wreck," Suzy told him. "We've all ransacked and rummaged, until it's just a heap of frustrated hopes."

"Perhaps we can make stepping stones of our dead hopes." "Perhaps," agreed Suzy, her eyes sparkling at the glory of being in active conversation with the great man. "Let's start now."

"No," Jean told her, "not until after dinner. Mr. Stone needs food before beginning on his great task. There are no secret panels, Mr. Stone," she went on, "so don't waste time looking for that sort of thing."

Continued Tomorrow.

Navy Will Honor Catapult Pioneer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Commander Theodore Gordon Elyson, who gambled his life in the first plane ever projected from a catapult, was honored posthumously today when the Navy announced that the auxiliary field at the Pensacola, Fla., Naval Air Station would be named for him. One of the new destroyers now under construction also will be named the Elyson.

It was in September, 1912, that Commander Elyson piloted a plane in the first trial of the newly developed catapult, a device designed to launch planes into the air from a warship.

The first attempt was unsuccessful, the plane stalling and crashing into the water. Elyson was rescued, the catapult was redesigned; then on November 12, 1912, Commander Elyson made a successful takeoff with the catapult from a barge at the Washington, D. C. Navy Yard.

Smith Loses Race For National Post

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Dr. Worth McClure, superintendent of schools at Seattle, Wash., for the past 11 years, was today elected second vice president of the American Association of School Administrators. He defeated Mark A. Smith, of Macon, Ga., in an all-day election contest at the AASA's annual convention, and if usual custom is followed he will be elected president next year.

In this organization of 12,000 school superintendents the outgoing president automatically becomes first vice president. Carroll R. Reed, of Minneapolis, will take over the first vice presidency March 15, when Dr. Howard Phillips, of Schenectady, N. Y., elected by mail ballot recently, succeeds him in the presidency.

Intangible Tax Hearing Set for Next Tuesday

Opponents Claim Plan Would Deprive Cities of Million Yearly.

W. Herschel Lovett, chairman of the ways and means committee of the house, last night set 7:30 o'clock next Tuesday night as the time for a special hearing by the committee on a proposal to revamp the Georgia intangibles tax law, a change which opponents claim would take more than $1,000,000 a year from municipalities by stripping them of authority to collect the taxes and vesting that power in the state.

Lovett said the general statewide interest in the bill had impelled committee members to defer action, expected last night, and to set a special hearing. He added that practically every city and every merchant in Georgia would be affected by the revision provisions.

Decision to hold a special meeting for the bill came after it was approved, 3 to 2, by a subcommittee yesterday afternoon. Representatives of the Atlanta city government entered strong protest.

Following the action, Councilman John A. White, chairman of city council's finance committee, called on merchants, real estate and businessmen generally to attend a meeting to be held at the city hall at 3 o'clock this afternoon to lay plans to fight the measure.

At the same time, White warned that passage would cost the municipal government more than $400,000 a year, and can mean but two things—abrogation of water rate decrease voluntarily voted by the Leary administration and a one-half additional ad valorem city tax levy.
